LA Purissima 1982

Walking around Lompoc High School, I see more than concrete, lockers and grass. I see people whose faces reflect their youth and enthusiasm. Their faces shine! Braves' shining enthusiasm is determined in many ways: In the faces of couples I see a mutual gleam of love, friends glow as they share happy times. I see the athletes glistening with sweat as they run that last lap and the swimmers shimmering in the pool as they struggle for those last yards, and always their eyes shine with determination and pride when they accomplish the goal. In the classroom I see the shine of the student's smiles as they receive an unexpected "A" on a big test. I see performers whose eyes sparkle as they receive the applause of the crowd. Braves shine in what they do best! And Braves do it all. Win or lose, Braves shine because they try with an unlimited energy that glows all about them. At Lompoc High School — Everyone Shines!

Big Picture: Pat Fuller and friend. 1. Pete Feely smiles at a joke he heard 3rd period. 2. "Dare me!" says Toni Cazenave to Nate Williams. 3. "I got my yearbook!" beams Lilia Ramirez. 4. Lunch time is a happy time for Joel McComb and Jim Mosby. 5. Stanley Edwards has a front row seat at the Flower Festival parade. 6. Our shining principal, Mr. Paisola, with Heidi Bennet, Lisa Smith and Shawn Donlea. 7. Mike Ranney finds himself helped into a tight spot with the help of some upperclassmen.

Hello my friend,
 we've survived another year,
 and did you know,
 that I never once told you how much you mean to me,
 so I'm telling you now, my friend,
 how very special you are.
 With you I share
 my victories, my defeats,

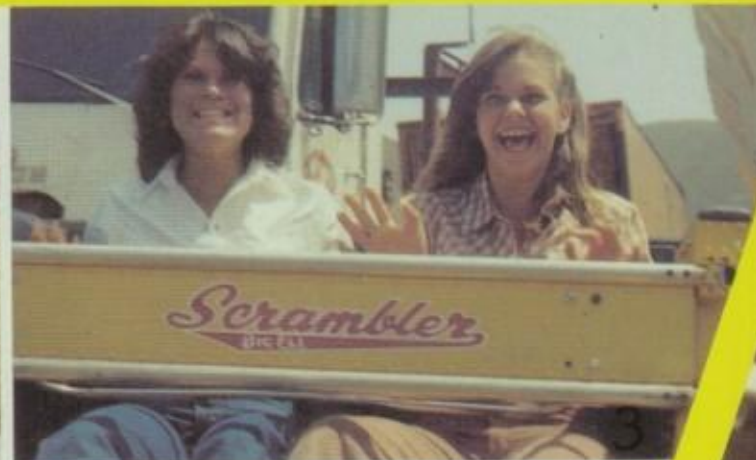

my troubles, my fears,
 my hopes, my dreams,
 my laughter and my tears.
 Everything that is me
 I share with you, for you're the best, my friend.
 Times will change,
 people will move on,
 but you and I will always be — the best of friends.

You've had your eye on him since the first time you saw him. He smiles at you; you flirtingly glance back. You feel your heart start pounding; your palms begin to sweat; you unconsciously write his name all over your binder. You wonder what it is that is taking control of your life. It's not too difficult to define: It's definitely love.

In our little portion of the world, Lompoc High, loving relationships are a part of everyday life. You discover the one special person you want. You somehow make your secret love discover you. It's awkward at first, holding hands, that first kiss, trying to create interesting conversations. It's not long before you know if things are going to work out. Some relationships are long and lasting, while others seem to fade away just as fast as they evolved. Whatever happens between the two of you, in the long run you did learn to give and receive love.

LOVERS

Big Picture: Mike Huyck and Sara Huseman dream about their future. 1. Stacey Myers and Mark Mesikep. 2. "Oooh Freddy" giggles Virginia Salazar. 3. Robert Stricklin and Shelley Ploch take a minute to re-acquaint themselves after a full day of school. 4. Arthur Anderson tells Gina Villalobos of his plans for their evening. 5. "You're my one and only," whispers Karla Huebner to Anthony Miranda. 6. Laura Saladino and Bryan Pilgrim enjoy a romantic day at Jalama. 7. Pat Fuller escorts Lilia Ramirez to her class.

Excitement was up and the crowd cheered as each finalist was introduced. It's been a tense but thrilling week, and now, Friday night, halftime at the football game, October 2nd, the moment that everyone was waiting for finally arrived.

The court: Toni Cazenave, Bev Heflin, Kelli Lisle, Jennifer Lizarraga, Jeanie Tolstad, Arthur Anderson, Jeff Hamstad, Todd Hovater, Steve Morales, and Danny Nelson.

They all stood in a line, some nervous and some holding a friendly hand for comfort. The question, "Who will win?" had entered everyone's mind, and in a few seconds, the announcer named Steve Morales and Jeanie Tolstad as the Homecoming King and Queen.

The Homecoming excitement finally came to an end Saturday night at the Officers Club where everyone enjoyed dancing to the Wrecking Crew. "Precious and Few" were these moments that everyone will remember.

ROYALTY

Homecoming finalist Toni Cazenave. 4. Bev Heflin and Kent Steffen at the first Homecoming assembly. 5. The 1981 Homecoming King and Queen are . . . 6. Danny Nelson. 7. "Steve, hold my hand," says Jeanie.

The thrill of victory — a feeling often experienced by the Braves athletic teams. Whether it was an individual effort, or a team sport, Lompoc athletes showed their pride by pushing themselves to the limit. The Braves proved they could excel through their endeavors. The key to Lompoc's success was determination and many hours of serious practice.

Lompoc coaches, the toughest in the area, produced the most disciplined and efficient athletes in the Northern League. Talent was abundant, and the Big Blue had depth. They received many rewards for their grueling efforts. Many outstanding, winning records were accomplished by the well-deserving athletes.

Winning wasn't everything, though. It was the satisfaction of going out and doing the best possible for yourself, your team, and your school, that made you proud to be a Brave athlete. The Lompoc Braves were awesome, and every opponent, knew it.

ATHLETES

Big Picture: Miranda sets the "Blue Wave" attack. 1. Mark Mesikep gives it his all. 2. Ken Ledgerwood demonstrates his stroke. 3. Monie Carpio jumps into the bump. 4. "Take that!" growls Dave Reynolds. 5. Jeanie Tolstad shows good form. 6. "My legs are killing me," thinks Rick Osborn. 7. Danny Brigham lays down a bunt.

Ask students here at Lompoc High School what they want most of all, and nine out of ten times the reply will be large, vast, uncountable amounts of money. What makes money so important? Money buys gas, clothes, albums, new cars, tickets and food, and it pays for dances, movies and dates.

The student who really wants money (and all that it pays for) badly enough to search for a job, give up free time, learn a skill and put out physical effort, is the worker. Workers can be seen pumping gas, bagging groceries, making pizzas, or babysitting. Some workers find their jobs through the work education program, where they receive class credits and a grade for working, while others find their own jobs or are self-employed. Some workers love their work while others dread it.

Many students feel proud and satisfied after completing a difficult job. Many times, self worth and pride are boosted by receiving an award or paycheck or raise in pay.

Workers

Big Picture: Mitch Greer does it all for you at McDonalds. 1. Kelli Lisle prepares for the Lompoc Flower Festival. 2. Nelson Jones enjoys his work at Carls Jr. 3. Barbara Noe pauses after scooping up another one at Baskin-Robbins. 4. Kristen Foster learns the trade at Braun's Pharmacy. 5. Jackie Puppe spends her spare time working at Granny's Cupboard. 6. Troy Dawson and Steve Heckman put their mechanical knowledge to work. 7. Steve Morales bags another one for Williams Bros.

Hard earned money often seemed to disappear as spenders at LHS did their thing. Spending money, wisely or otherwise, was a popular pastime that everyone took part in. At various times throughout the school year, almost every Brave found himself shelling out dollars on new clothes, ASB cards, yearbooks, rooter bus tickets, letterjackets, $100 formal dance dates, class rings, or senior portraits.

Outside of school, spending money clearly became an obsession for many students. For some it meant blowing a paycheck for something extremely high class to show to everyone, and to others money meant independence.

During high school years, turning 16 meant the beginning of earning money, and then, spending. Dating played a big part in students' lives and wallets. Much money was dished out for cars as expenses ran sky high with gas costing $1.50 a gallon. Whether spendthrift or tightwad, every Brave was some kind of spender.

$penders

Big Picture: Laura Saladino decides on a purchase. 1. "I can afford this, thinks Gail Ramirez. 2. "That was my last quarter!" says Danny Nelson. 3. Heather Anderson makes a selection. 4. Jennifer DeSalle, Patti Silva, and Cecelia Alvarado choose flowers on Mother's Day. 5. Buy your yearbook!

Oh, no, it's the rowdies! They are bursting with energy, while they frolic along from class to class. They have so much energy they look as if an explosion is approaching soon. The pressure is building, their veins are ready to pop. Their instinctive drives to scream and yell at the top of their lungs, to do something bizarre, to catch the eye of the opposite sex, laugh hysterically, all have to wait till the right instant. They must let out the daily frustrations. The rowdiness can fall upon them at any second; at spirited assemblies, while cruising, jammin' at the dances, at the rambunctious football games or just around our very own school yard.

This craze is a definite part of being a student at Lompoc Senior High School. Everyone feels the need to let it all out sometimes, and getting rowdy is one way students participated in this favorite pastime, which also was the root of our school spirit.

Three p.m. Friday. School's finally out, homework is thrown in the corner. It's time to live it up. Weekend plans are being made, cars are being washed and shined. Pom poms are being fluffed up for the game.

The night starts, and the cruise is packed bumper to bumper with excitement. The time is full of laughter, friends, and so called scheming. The night isn't complete without a cruise by McDonald's to see what's cooking.

Your days could be spent hot tubbing, shopping at the mall, participating in your Sunday bowling league, or just lounging around watching an old movie while you read the new magazine.

Unless, of course, you are lucky enough to have one of those "big" weekends planned, including a freaky Devo concert in L.A., or even better, a trip back to your childhood in the Wonderful World of Disney. Also there are those formals, where you spend all day Saturday getting ready. No matter what your interests are, weekends were made for you!

Cruisers

Big Picture: 9 p.m. Saturday on the Boulevard! 1. Weekends bring relaxation! 2. A favorite weekend hangout, Lompoc Valley Drive-in. 3. Even Rhonda Fallon and Mickey Contreras take a break from tennis on the weekend. 4. Jeff Hahn patiently awaits his turn to bowl. 5. Karla Huebner don't you dare! 6. "Come say that to my face," thinks Danny Nelson.

Cheers! Here's to eating. It's embarrassing, terrifying, addicting, disgusting, and it'll get ya' every time.

A perfect example of embarrassment is Homecoming night. A sweet sixteen couple, a candlelit dinner for two, salads nowhere near cut to bite sizes, faces turning to red, and a scheme of how to handle the predicament churns in their heads. The girl handles the occasion by eating a minimum, and the big, macho guy eats everything, because there is no way he's going to fork out that much money and not eat.

Absolutely everyone has experienced being on a diet with a scale that just has to be a cheap model because every day it's even more over weight. What's uglier than the rolls of fat is the disgusting way they got there.

But that first bite, that shimmering moment makes up for it all, cause when there's a happy tummy, there's a happy muncher.

Alive

Big Picture: Cheers! 1. Carolyn Imano and Michelle McGuire come back from their dally trip to Taco Bell. 2. An underclassman enjoys her lunch. 3. "The Hershey company loves me," thinks Trudy Turner. 4. Brian Schalesky inhales his lunch. 5. Shawn Donlea goes bananas. 6. Do you like whip cream, Ivanna Athey, or is that Annie Hendricksons' form of torture?

Microphones begin to turn on, guitars go through the normal routine of fine tuning. The beat is on and the dancers are out on the floor. There are some with just a sway here and there, and then there are THE DANCERS, most of the time off beat, but as radical as ever. It really doesn't matter what you look like, it's just the fact that you are having the time of your life out there in front of the live band and huge amplifiers. There is a new song with a slight change in the beat. Everyone around you is jamming out right on the dance floor, without a care in the world except to feel a bit of a 'high' from the atmosphere.

The best part of the whole dance is when you are with that special person during a very mellow, special song. But soon the beat picks up and you are doing your thing once more. You are the Dancer.

DANCERS

Big Picture: Carolyn Imano, Kevin Macke and Mark Mesikep have a "jammin' time" at the Ice Breaker. 1. Ricky Hains, do you usually dance with Marty Salazar or is this just a special occasion? 2. Joel Arreola and Jim Heter. 3. "Don't bother me at a time like this," says Anthony Ballinger with Monica Biesemeier. 4. Karla Huebner and Anthony Miranda step off the dance floor for a little romance. 5. Fred (Astaire) Foster and Ginger (Rogers) Salazar dance the night away. 6. Heather Hudson reveals her classical dance side. 7. "I said, I don't want to dance with you," insists Jarret Overton.

Struggling to make it through the long day of school, I kept anticipating the upcoming afternoon of surfing. Two-ten finally came, bringing with it hot temperatures just right for the beach. I cruised home from school in my primed Volkswagen square-back and loaded up my surf gear.

I headed towards Jalama, totally prepared for the tubes. Gnarly waves greeted me as I approached the beach. I reflected upon the beginning of my surfing experience many tubes ago. It had become a way of life for me, something very natural.

Zippering up my wetsuit, I rushed into the cold water. An awesome wave carried me in for my first ride. Then I saw the wall begin to build. I had to catch this cosmic wave! I was there! I was on top of it, needing no support other than the wind rushing past me. I found that feeling I had been searching for. My ultimate dream had been reached.

Surfers

Robby Decker at the football booth. 5. Preparing for the surf. 6. Miriam Klawiter and Jackie Puppe enjoy the sun and surf, while playing in the sand.

Brain strain — an epidemic sweeping Lompoc High. Braves kept busy throughout the year loaded down with Shakespeare quotations, Spanish vocabulary, quadratic equations, and molar conversions. Whether it was memorizing the date Columbus discovered America, writing a fifteen page term paper, or drawing conclusions from a chemical reaction, everywhere you looked Lompoc students were trying, thinking, and above all, learning. From the beginning of your freshman year until the end of your senior year, you were bombarded with test after test, starting with the proficiency test, and ending with, probably, the most important test, the SAT.

Serious planning for the future began during your high school years. As you looked ahead toward college, your interests and study habits became more intense. Dedication and determination drove the brains of the school to strive for the highest achievements.

BRAINS

Big Picture: Charlie Johnes and Steve Segura combine their brains to finish the lab. 1. Fritz Mickadeit does the work while Domingo Miclat and Steve Terrones look on. 2. Jackie Puppe chews her pen for the answer. 3. Jeff Copeland. 4. Filling out forms is a never ending job. 5. Jodee Hahn creates a masterpiece in floriculture. 6. "Well only one mistake," says Mr. Bullock to Allen Gordon in graphic arts. 7. Rick Caviness, in chemistry moles aren't animals.

After spending morning classes listening to boring lectures, Braves found it a relief to escape to some form of creativity and expression found in many of the elective courses offered on campus.

It was hard to miss the talent that seemed to beam out of Lompoc High this year. Voices could be heard regularly through the open windows in Mu-2, while the band echoed in the background. Pottery wheels spun. A Photo I student discovered his first image appearing on a blank piece of white paper, while flowers were arranged in Horticulture class. An actor read his part time and time again, while the artist smiled as he completed his difficult water color design. The scent of food baking in home economics drifted to a mechanic as he discovered why his car would not start. The artists not only helped make LHS a more beautiful place, but they also helped themselves to discover hidden talents that they might use in their future.

ARTISTS

Big Picture: Tim Hogan shows off his artistic ability on the Rotary float. 1. Arnold Rowan in "Ten Little Indians." 2. Jackie Miller and Sherri Libby. 3. Practice makes perfect, right, Clark?

What is winning? Winning is everything in the eyes of a true competitor. Winning can mean acing a difficult test or taking the CIF championship. Lompoc is full of winners. Though their goals may vary, the way in which they attain their goals is the same.

Winning takes work, desire and the ability to push yourself to the limit. The "A" student pushes harder than the "B" student, and the star athlete more than his competitors.

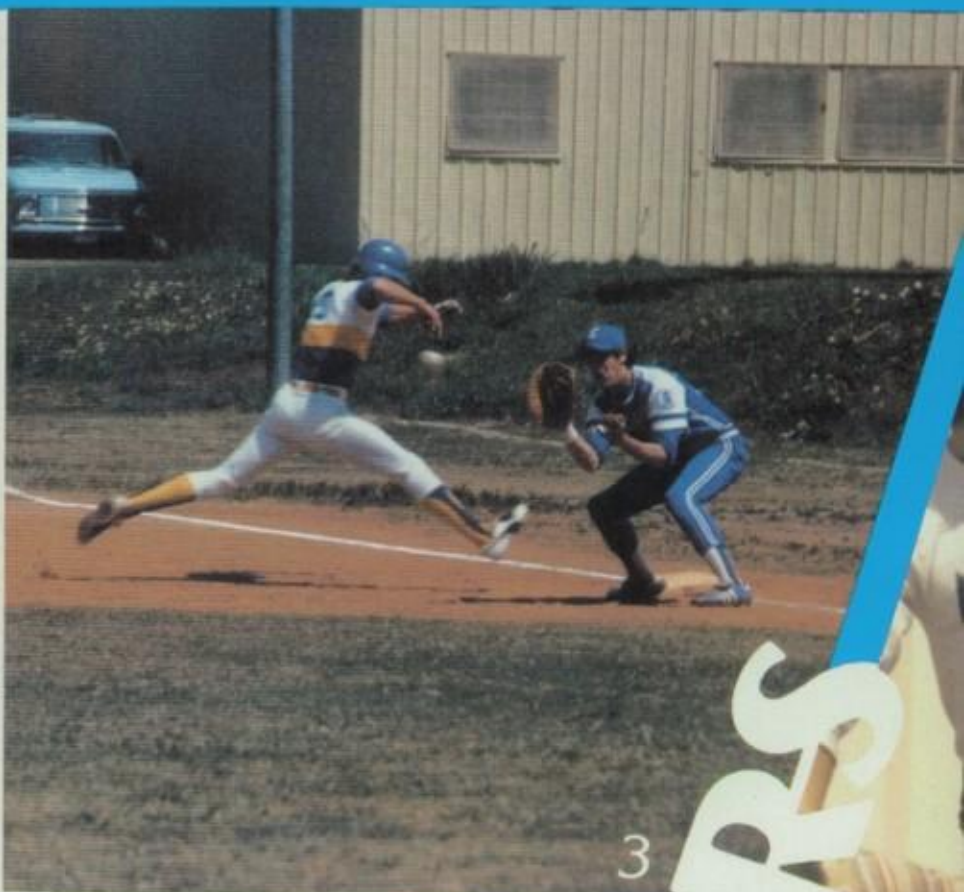

It takes a very special person to be a winner. No one said that winning was easy, but the long hours of practice, rehearsal or studying always pay off. When you have finally achieved that ultimate goal, the feeling of personal satisfaction outweighs all else. The one thing that all winners have in common is that they work hard to give it their all, and after everything is done they realize that getting to the top was the real motivation for the work.

1982 was the year for Braves sports to SHINE! One special bragging point was the fact that every fall and winter sport was victorious over Cabrillo except football. They didn't have to beat Cabrillo; they were already League Champs going into the game.

Out of the fall and winter sports, Lompoc High produced six league champions, and three second place finishers. The Braves also were outstanding in CIF, with girls cross country placing second, wrestling sending five athletes to finals, boys cross country placing fifth, two teams going to semi-finals, and two teams going to quarter-finals.

We had high hopes that the spring sports would continue this tradition. Predictions were that both boy's and girl's track teams, softball, and golf should place very high in League standings.

Although the record books show Lompoc as league co-champs with the San Luis Tigers, the Brave gridders know what paper doesn't tell. Both teams finished the season with a 4 and 1 record, but when the two Northern League powerhouses met it was Lompoc that squeezed into the coveted number one place by a thrilling last second field goal in the first overtime period.

A new experience for the varsity football team was an afternoon game played at Righetti. Lompoc traveled on a Saturday afternoon and returned with a 14-7 victory.

On a dismal, rainy night, as visitors in their own stadium, the Braves just couldn't hold on to the ball and allowed their rival, Cabrillo, to take a 7-12 lead that left them ahead when the clock ran out, giving the Braves' their only league loss.

After winning four league games, the big Braves knew they had it in the bag. But the big game was still to come; the Beans vs. Lompoc. The spirit flowed through the stands as people cheered the Braves on. Unfortunately, the turnovers on a rainy night gave Cabrillo the victory, 12-7.

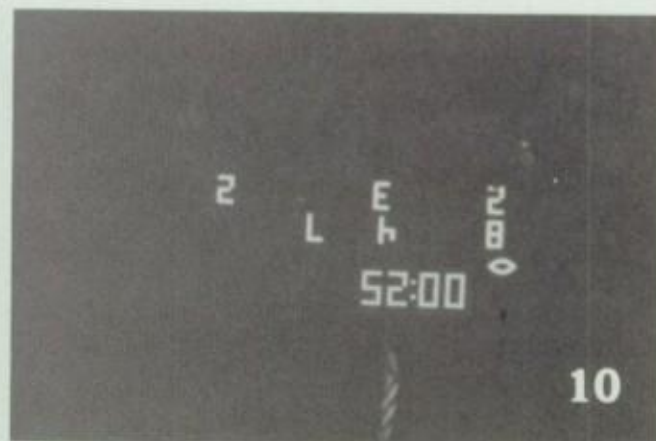

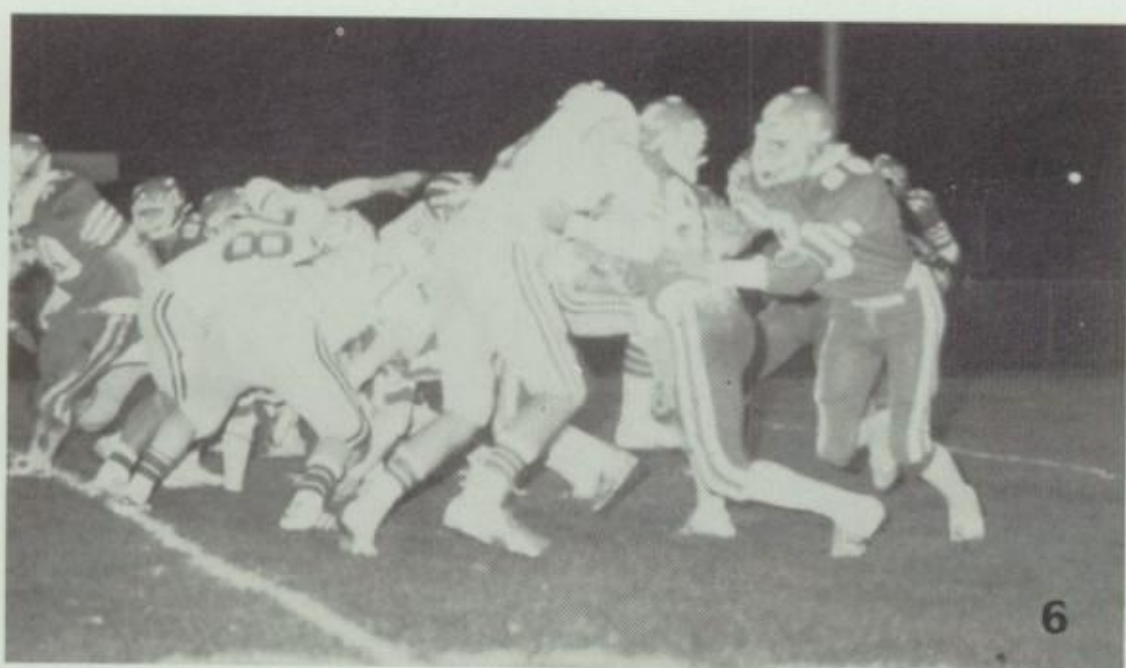

While Cabrillo was handing in their equipment the Braves were practicing for their upcoming game against the Hoover Tornados. In a thrilling game, the Tornados went down in defeat 8-7 as the Braves scored a touchdown and went for the two-point conversion with 25 seconds remaining on the clock.

The next week it would be the Lancers of Bell Gardens. In second round action, it was the Braves' turn to suffer a last-minute loss as they went down to defeat 14-13, with fine defensive action keeping the game low scoring. As the Braves went into the fourth quarter, the Lancers show a little weariness, but the opposition scored a touchdown and a two-point conversion with 20 seconds remaining on the clock, thus ending the CIF Championship dreams of the Braves once again.

J.V./Frosh football had very successful seasons. The freshmen were 3-1 in league, and 6-4 overall. Jerry Hamstad, the head coach, says of his gifted team:

"We lost to Cabrillo and Righetti the first time we played them, but we turned around and beat them the second. This just shows how our players improved throughout the season."

The Junior-Varsity team also lost to Cabrillo the first time, but also turned and whipped Cabrillo. They were 3-2 in league and 6-2 overall.

Contributing to the outstanding season, other than the players themselves, were the head coaches of both J.V./Frosh, Dave Reynolds and Hamstad.

Determination and spirit, along with many hours of hard work and practice, were worthwhile in the long run for Lompoc's girls volleyball team this year as they took the title of Northern League Champions for the first time. It was not easy. The team learned to work together on spiking, setting, serving, bumping, and risking their bodies by diving on the floor to make that great save. The results were at first bruises, sore muscles, and maybe just a little bit of complaining, but as the season continued, it all seemed to pay off. Co-Captains were Monie Carpio and Jeanie Tolstad. The girls posted a league record of 13-2, and for the first time went to 2nd round of CIF competition.

Trying to regain the league crown was the main goal of the boys cross country team. The boys pulled together and created an outstanding season, winning all five league meets for the first time in seven years.

Returning varsity lettermen were seniors Ken Ledgerwood, Todd Saxe, Ricky Travis, and sophomore Frankie Ramirez. The team placed fifth in CIF.

The girls cross country team found out just how much talent they had. The effort put out by each team member, when combined, ranked them second in league and second in CIF, where they lost to Victor Valley by only two points. This was quite an accomplishment for a sport that could not win a single meet two years ago.

Braves powerful varsity waterpolo team came through this season with strength and pride. The poloists placed a tight second in league, losing only to Righetti. The game was lost in an overtime battle, one goal determining the champs. For only the second time in history the Braves made it to the quarter finals in C.I.F. Under the coaching of Al Jaenicke and Glen Heidlebaugh the Braves came through with a 16-5 overall record. Rick Haines was named league M.V.P., and for the first time in Lompoc's history, Rick was named all C.I.F. first team. Jim Mosby and Chuck Bohls were named all-league first team.

Enthusiasm was what kept the J.V. polo team afloat. Starting fresh with only one returning player, the J.V.'ers had a tough time overpowering their rivals. J.V. looks forward to more success next year.

Coming from a very disappointing season last year, the Braves basketball team showed a complete turnaround this year.

"No one expected us to be anything in league and we came out .500 which was a big accomplishment for a team that was 0-10 the previous year," said Shawn Donlea.

The Braves ended up 5-5 in league and finished off their season with an overall record of 12-11.

"Our goal was to compete in CIF, but we fell one game short of making it."

The high point of the team's season was defeating Cabrillo. "Beating Cabrillo twice this season made up for us not going to CIF."

The JV and Freshman squads look full of potential to build a strong varsity team in the future.

This year was great for varsity girls basketball. This team was the first ever to beat Righetti and to top that, they won the Northern League Title. "I feel every member of the team contributed to winning the title. When the seniors entered the program as freshmen, the team had only won 6 games all together. Now girls basketball is a program this school can be proud of," stated coach Ben DuPree. This season marked a turning point for J.V. basketball. The team was 5 and 5 in league play, with three losses determined by two baskets or less. Coach Chris Woods stated, "I feel the team showed spirit and proved themselves to be winners. Lompoc should be proud of the girls basketball program and its super athletes."

Be proud, Coach Hope! This year you were the coach of the Lompoc High School Soccer Braves, who were filled with talent and potential, and played one of the most exciting, physical, and up-and-coming sports. Watching the game, everyone can see the intensity of a soccer player during the special times when the team is working as one.

Halfway through the season is when everything started coming together. Keith Imano, co-captain and star goalie said, "We're working together, controlling the midfield, and passing with confidence and accuracy!" Steve Terrones, co-captain, said, "We play our best in the big games", which is the understatement of the year. When 2nd place was up for grabs in the last game of the season against Cabrillo, the Braves crushed them 4-1.

The J.V. team was awesome this year with fantastic unity, which led to their 17-1 record.

The Braves put the sting on Righetti, and with their heads high they raised their hands in victory, for they had won the league championship. Departing the tournament with an outstanding victory, Lompoc had eight league finalists and two league champs.

Lompoc had three wrestlers qualify for the CIF championship tournament. Coming up empty-handed, the three, Mike Huyck, Mike Huseman, and Alonzo Harrison, all juniors, gave it their best. Inexperienced but tough is perhaps the best way to describe the 1982 Lompoc boy's tennis team. "If we have a team strength, it's that we have many players of fairly even ability. We are not overpowering, but neither are we exceptionally weak in one area. We're inexperienced but fairly solid," stated Coach Bickmore at the season's opening.

This year's varsity line-up included Kenny Ledgerwood, Darin Signorelli, David Cadell, Bill Camacho, Todd Saxe, Tony Domingos, Rob Barnard, Kevin Gustafson, and Sean Coughlin.

Kenny Ledgerwood, the Braves top singles player and also team captain stated, "This is a growing year, working for experience. Two or three years from now this team will be awesome."

"On paper," stated Bickmore, "San Luis, Righetti, and Arroyo Grande all have players returning from last year's team, but we don't play our matches on paper. We play it on the court."

"Swimmers up . . . Take your marks . . ." BANG!! The Brave fish are off and swimming, stroke for stroke they compete. As the event is nearing its finish, it's Lompoc who's in the lead, just touching out their opponents. Another victory for the Braves!

With one returning League Champion and two runners-up, Varsity looked for a respectable season. Bryan Schalesky led in the freestyle events, Jim Mosby excelled in the 100 back while Robert Hubbard held his own in the 100 breast. Steve Anderson, Bill McVicar, and Robert Wilson helped create the depth needed for an exceptional team.

Coach Al Jaenicke felt that San Luis Obispo and Righetti would be the toughest contenders in '82.

Although the team was smaller than in previous years, the J.V. swimmers showed great potential in building a strong varsity team for the future.

This year's Varsity Swim Team was somewhat "Questionable." Most of 1981's third place team was lost to graduation.

Coach James Parker said, "We are a young team with a good core. We have six Varsity girls that are very solid in league, which include: Senior freestyler Miriam Klawiter, who was a league finalist last year; Bev Heflin, the most versatile swimmer; Pam Linde, Francie Sharpe, Christa Stano, and Sara Huseman. A lot of our season depends on how much we can get out of our young swimmers."

The toughest opponent for the team was expected to be San Luis, but Arroyo Grande could cause a surprise, and Cabrillo is never taken lightly.

Team leader Miriam Klawiter stated, "We are a real small team, with not much depth. The team is closer than it has been before, and everyone is able to work well together. We should pull through with a good season."

Coached by Gary Prucha, the Braves golf team highlighted their 1981 season with a 5-5 league record including a victory over CIF Team Qualifier San Luis Obispo, and two closely contested matches with city rival Cabrillo. The team also spent three days in Monterey and Carmel where they golfed at Spyglass, the site of the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

This year's team was expected to do very well with five senior golfers who shot consistently low had super attitudes which could bring them a Northern League Championship.

If an award is given on attitude, the gymnastics team would be a prime contender. They were eager to learn at their long practices, but the girls seemed to think of the long practices as fun and satisfying times together. Headed by new coach Donna Rupa, the team looked forward to an enjoyable and successful year. With their new uniforms, outlook, and new coach, the gymnastics team made the year exciting.

Finally Northern League Champs! The Lompoc High Girls Track team of 80-81 came out of the season undefeated, winning all five league meets. Encouraged by their past results, many members returned this year.

"We have a lot of talent and should be competitive this year," stated Bob Caouette, head-coach. Some of the talent was provided by returning varsity letterwomen Sally Rich, sophomore; Bee Bee Dukes and Kerri Hyatt, juniors Lynette Farnum and Kristen Foster, seniors. "Our prospects of taking league again look really good, and we are striving to make it happen," said Lynette Farnum. With the outlook for the 81-82 season positive, the track team members kept up their hard work and long hours of practice.

The prospects include Morrie Mau, Mike Ward, John Jackson and Kenny Washington in the sprints, high jump, long jump and relays. As for distance, Frank Ramirez and Dennis Block look very good. Much strength is in the weight events (shot put and discus) with John O'Neill, Nate Willaims, and James Turri.

"We lost all our really good hurdlers last year when they graduated," stated Coach Garife, "But we are stronger in distance this year."

Once again in 1981, the Braves Baseball team captured the Northern League crown, posting a 12-3 record. After having a mid-season slump, the Braves pulled together and worked as a team, earning a CIF playoff birth. In the first round it was the Nitros of Glendale who went down in defeat 1-0. In the second round the Braves faced El Dorado. After a disappointing game the Braves went down in defeat 7-2.

The Junior Varsity team, led by Ruben Terrones, was a group of eager young sophomores who played well and gained experience. The team produced some fine players that were added to the varsity team.

The Frosh team, led by Mr. Warren in his first season as coach, played well enough to compile a 15-2 record. The team benefited from some very gifted players that will prove to be a big success in the future.

They crushed San Marcos 8-4 and against Dos Pueblos in a double header, they swept both games, 1-0, 2-1.

EVEN though attending school is mandatory, the students aren't confined to academics. As many former Braves remember, the best memories are those of participation with others in clubs.

Leaders were encouraged to improve skills that may prove helpful later in life, others learned how to follow and cooperate. Activities offered an exciting, and unique learning experience without the worry of grades.

Depending on the individual's interests or skills, there was a wide range of extracurricular activities to choose from; band, Interact, Thespians and Student Council offered Braves a chance to make new friends, get involved, share an interest or just do something they enjoyed doing. Whatever interests Braves held, there was a group to share them with.

EXPERIENCE

I thought it would be quite interesting to get involved in Future Farmers of America and raise an animal, so I did. It turned out to be a lot of hard work but I feel it was very rewarding. Each morning I had to get up at sunrise and feed my lamb. After school, once again, I made my way to the pens in order that I could feed and exercise my animal.

For three months I anticipated the upcoming fair. Soon it came time to make the necessary preparations, such as washing, shearing and clipping.

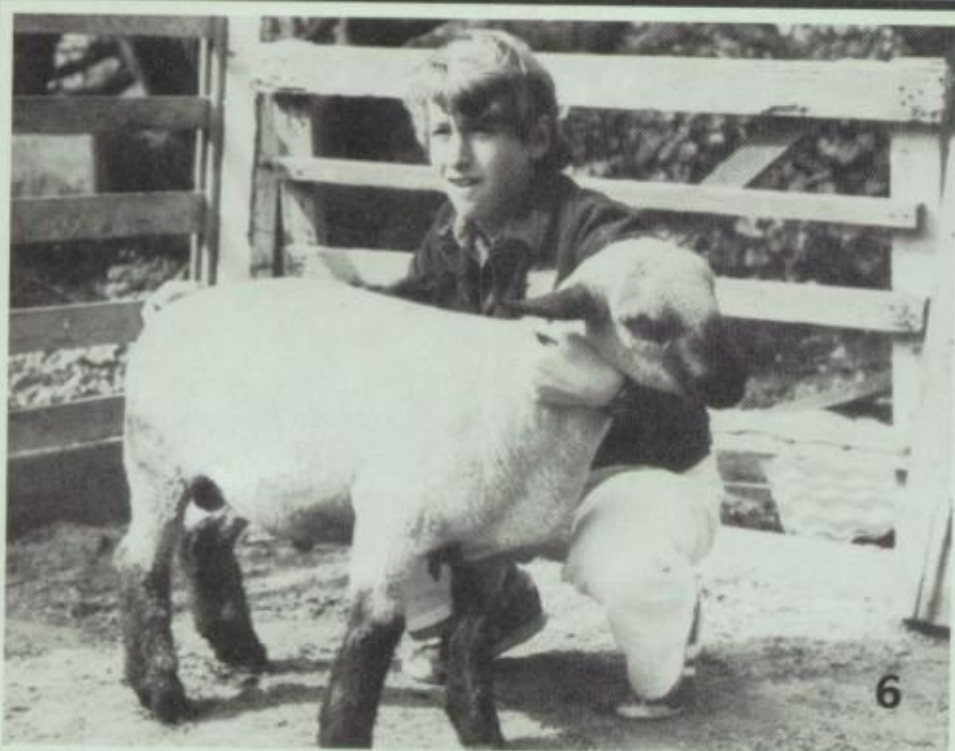

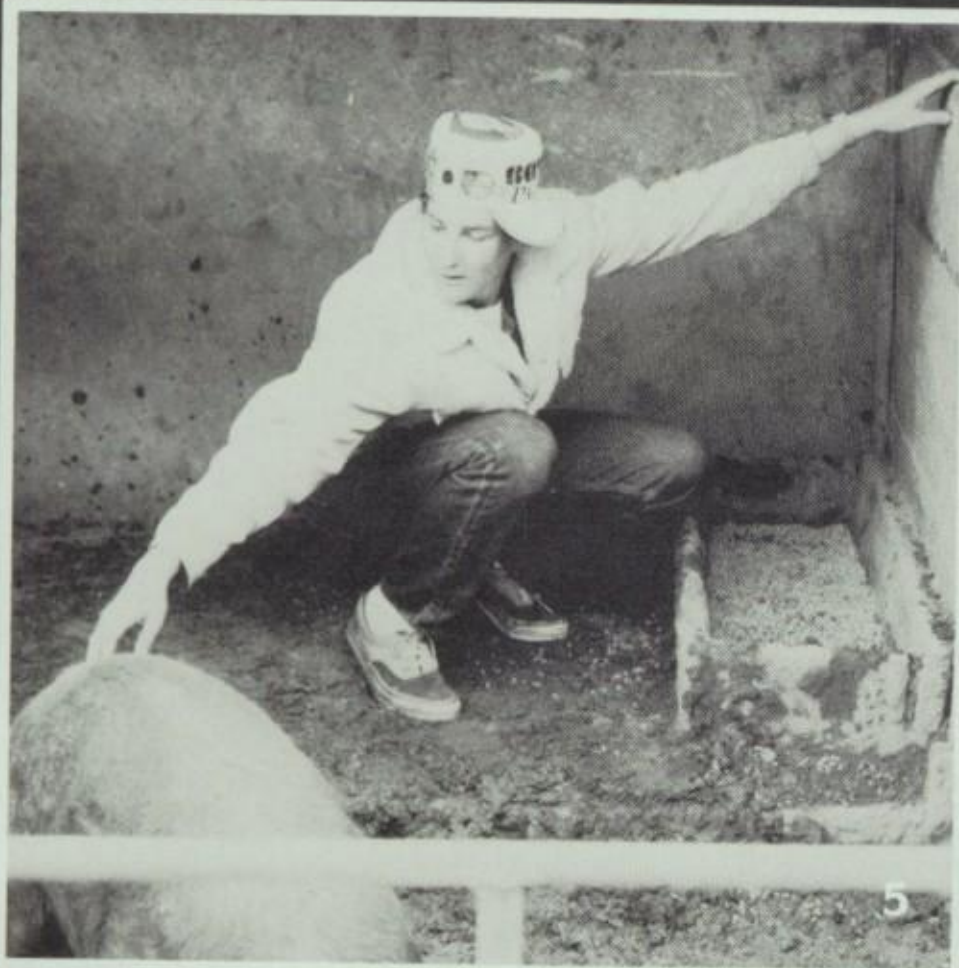

At the fair, the excitement was overwhelming. So many FFA members finishing up last minute details on their livestock. Our hard work finally paid off as we were granted the opportunity to show off and get our animals judged. The auction took place and our animals were sold.

Too soon it all ended, and we were forced to bid our animals farewell. Filled with pride and a feeling of satisfaction, we departed from the fairgrounds with ribbons and memories of another great fair.

"As president of FFA I think that the fun and excitement of all our experiences proved to be a great learning experience." said Karen Herigstad. This year's FFA club was under the leadership of Karen, president; Jeff Hahn, v-pres.; Heidi Bennett, secretary; Linda Speer, treasurer; Toni Cazenave, historian; Donnie Holmdahl, sentinel; and Don Thiede, reporter. With these active and involved leaders the club participated in many activities this year, starting with initiations of the new members who were asked to paint their hand green for one week, thus receiving the name "greenhand." Planning the traditional Sadie Hawkins dance was another activity FFA club participated in.

Through-out the year FFA members won various awards for their achievements. Some received scholarships. These students were recognized at the Honor Banquet in May.

PRECISION

One of the highlights of FFA is being able to be on a judging team. Dairy Products, Floriculture, Vegetables, Horse, Land, Ag. Mechanics, and Ornamental Horticulture are the different subjects. The whole point to this is to know the most about one of these particular subjects. These teams have meets which they call field days. At these meets they compete with other teams for ribbons and awards. At the end of the season, the best teams are sent to Kansas for the ultimate meet. Most teams have practice every day, but as one team member stated, "Sure the practice is hard, but the satisfaction of winning and also having fun and meeting the nicest people is all well worth it. More people should get involved in FFA and judging teams, they really don't know how fun and educational it is."

WE FEEL GOOD!

We feel good! Oh we feel so good! Ugh! came blaring out of the Library 4 doors often this year as the entire A.S.B. met for their sixth period planning class. It was in this class, under the supervision of Mr. Charles Hurlbut and A.S.B. President Patrick Haines, that the council got together to pool their thoughts and efforts.

"I received the satisfaction of serving the student body in the highest student position in the school. A lot has been done, and all in a short time. The year has been progressive and I've seen that this school has fantastic spirit when it is encouraged to show it. Along with the excellence in our sports and our growing A.S.B., the year, overall, was the best in a long time," said Patrick.

Because they were aware that they had only half a school year to serve, the A.S.B. officers quickly took action and accomplished many goals. An awards program was established along with programs to build communication between the A.S.B. and the teachers.

A.S.B. card sales reached an all-time high, with more than 1000 being sold in one month. This year was the first time that there were free discount cards with the A.S.B. cards and it proved to be a fantastic incentive to the student body. The new scoreboards were installed and put to use.

Under the new constitution Virginia Salazar, a sophomore, was elected A.S.B. President for the spring semester.

CHANGES

Out with the old and in with the new, is the best way to describe the junior and senior class officers. They lost five members altogether because of the requirement of the leadership class sixth period, and two more to the A.S.B.

"I'm kind of sorry I'm graduating this year because the student council is just beginning to change and get really organized," said senior class president Bev Heflin. Senior class elected officers were v-pres, Jeanie Tolstad; sec-treas, Kelli Lisle; reps, Jennifer Lizarraga, Toni Cazenave, and Christa Stano. Junior class president Mary Langenfeld stated, "I can't wait for prom to come; we have been working so hard all year." Elected junior class officers, v-pres, Sue Heath; sec-treas, Diane Sawyer; reps, Sherri Gordon, Pat Fuller, and Rick Osborn.

INVOLVED

Involvement — The key word to success. Freshmen and sophomore officers not only became involved, they strived for success in all that they did. Each member took an active part in the work of this year's council. At the December elections, Ginger Salazar, sophomore class president, stepped all the way to the top of the ladder into the prestigious position of ASB president. Dee Dee Galindo, freshman class representative, became commissioner of activities, and Leilani Hattendorf, freshman class secretary, was appointed to commissioner of publicities.

Freshman activities for the past year included a BBQ, balloon sales at football games, a dance, a car wash, and See's sucker sales. Ivana Athey, freshman class president, stated, "I got frustrated a lot. You have all these ideas, but you can't do them all at once. We need to be more of a unity. We need more enthusiasm.

Sophomore activities included a dance, a car wash, and selling refreshments at basketball games. "Our goal was to make $1,000 in one year," stated Ginger, "and we reached that goal in three months. I loved being class president because we're a class with class."

In closing, Ivana stated, "It's good to be able to participate and become involved. We have really learned a lot."

DO RE MI

"We have a younger sound this year in Madrigals, but we have a better blend within the group," stated Angie Webster, Social Director, "The reason for this is because the majority of the choir graduated last year and so we had to add sophomores to fill in."

This may be so, but it hasn't hurt the reputation of the group any. Madrigals is still hanging in there and singing strong with the help of Director Dave Hensley.

Madrigals perform many community concerts and sing at such places as the Mission and NCO Club. They spend all year performing for the community and finally get to show their talents to others when they go on tour. This year they plan on going to San Francisco and are expected to do extremely well, as in the past.

"We need a lot of stamina to put up with all the rehearsals," said Angie, "but it all pays off with the applause!"

THE BIG TIME!

Not only did Journey and the Rolling Stones go on tour this year, so did the LHS Concert Choir. Maybe we should even change their name to "The Touring Braves." In order to make the tour in L.A., the choir had to be selected by the California Music Educators Association as one of the seven top choirs in California. Mr. Hensley, director, said, "I'd consider us one of the top vocal groups, and so did the judges!" The choir is busiest in the spring as their festival, tour, and Magic Mountain trip is then. Jerry Phelps, president, said, "We have a good time together and really enjoy performing." Other officers were Mamie King, Mike Moll, and Kerri Hyatt. To sing with confidence, pride, enjoy the people you're with, and love the music all at the same time is the ultimate, so it follows that the concert choir had an ultimate year.

TREBLE MAKERS

'81-'82 was the first school year for Intermediate Chorus. They had exceptional quality and talent considering the majority of them were merely Freshmen.

Directed by Mr. David Hensley, the Intermediate Chorus participated in several concerts during the year. They sang in the Christmas concert as well as in the assemblies. They traveled to Crescenta Valley High to compete in a music festival. They also hosted a festival at the Lompoc Civic Auditorium on April 16th.

With only 12 singers in the fall semester, they finished out the year with a total of 28 members.

The intent of the Intermediate Chorus was mainly to prepare singers for Concert Choir.

"Before I joined this choir I didn't know if I could sing or not. I'm still not sure but it's been a lot of fun," stated Pam Johnson.

1. Pucker up everyone. 2. Barbara Neustel and Debbie Prince sing the hearts out. 3. Lorraine Setterland and Michelle McGuire. 4. Intermediate Chorus performing at the Christmas assembly. 5. # KNEES & TOES

"All of us work together," said freshman choir president, Vondella Lammons. This is one of the reasons that this year's choir planned to compete at McFerson Junior High School in Orange County. "One way we raised money was by having a car-wash," said Vondella.

The officers, Vondella, Steve Berzansky, vice-president; Hitomi Roberson, secretary; Hollie Meehan, treasurer; and David Lane, activities director, made this year an exciting one with their leadership abilities.

The Freshman choir also performed in the annual Christmas Concert, and the Spring Concert. This was the time where they could really show Mom and Dad what they learned in school.

All of the choir was really excited when director Mr. Hensley, taught them their favorite song, "Heads, shoulders, knees and toes." This song brings a lot of enjoyment to the whole group. "Everyone gets along really well," said Vondella.

1. "And these are our eyes." 2. "That sounds neat," thinks Lisa Roback. 3. LuLu Mendiola and Rosalie Chavez. 4. Freshman choir performing at the Christmas Concert. 5. # PROUD

Stepping out with a fresh beat were the Lompoc Marching Braves under the new direction of Mr. Dean McNair. The band was very busy during the football season, not only performing for halftime shows, but also competing at three parades and two field shows. They gained experience with each competition and were rewarded at last with a second place trophy at the Lancaster Christmas Parade and field show, beating out Cabrillo for the first time in six years. The band hopes to raise enough money to get new uniforms in the next couple of years to dazzle the crowds even more.

PERFORMING

Success and fun were the result of hard work and cooperation this year for the Lompoc High School Tall Flags. "We did better than ever before; we had more teamwork and we all got along pretty well," said Captain Debbie Frederick.

The girls were a great feature of the Marching Braves. They performed at every home halftime show, at the Chino Band Review and they placed fifth in the La Habra Novice Field Tournament.

Because they did so well this year, they hope to influence more people to try out.

Not only did the girls work hard at perfecting their routines, but they also spent much time and effort selling Manor Texas Christmas fruitcakes and candy to increase their funds.

"The best part of being in Tall Flags was getting to know people and performing," Debbie said.

UNIQUE

Orchestra had a unique sound this year with the addition of several violin players and woodwind players.

Under the direction of Mr. Dean McNair, the orchestra started its concert season with the annual Christmas concert held in the gym, and wound it up with a four day tour in the San Diego area. They also competed in Festival competition hosted by Cabrillo where they gave a superb performance.

The orchestra is made up of only a few select musicians from the larger Symphonic Winds which are then added to the best string players to complete the only remaining high school orchestra on the Central Coast.

SHOWTIME

Symphonic Winds is a group of hand-picked musicians who perform in a miniature band after being chosen by the new musical director, Mr. McNair. The entire band is allowed to audition but only a few are given this honor. These select artists contribute a lot of their time to perfecting the quality of their performances.

During the second semester of the year they take a special class from Mr. McNair. During the first semester, practices are scheduled at night, and before special performances they sometimes practice at lunch. Their performances included two community concerts as well as musical assemblies for the school.

They also planned to include in their hectic schedule a spring tour to various high schools in the L.A. area. Frank Johnston, president, said, "I think the Symphonic Winds adjusted well to the new director, and all his new ideas helped us to have one of our most successful and productive years."

1. Bryan Schalesky and Steve Segura practice for perfection. 2. Three of the officers discuss important matters. 3. Rehearsals for the "Tribute of Carols." 4. "And-a one-a and-a two-a." 5. # APPLAUSE

Active is perhaps the best word to describe Thespian troupe #779. It is by no means the only. Dedicated, talented, motivated . . . The list goes on. Besides possessing all of the above qualities, in order to be a Thespian one must be involved in Lompoc High School play productions, must put in 100 hours or more in after school drama programs, and must pay a $12 lifetime membership fee. (This allows members to see all LHS Thespian productions free for life.) Activities sponsored by the Thespians included the production of "Ten Little Indians," a ten year Thespian BBQ reunion, a festival trip to Occidental College, a Cary Trivonovich assembly, balloon sales at football games, and two bake sales. Much of the club's success was due to their hardworking advisor, Larry Bowen. "Being the Thespian sponsor is not a job or an assignment for me, but an honor since the dedicated group of Thespians we have are a great group of students." Tim Hogan, club president, summed it all up by saying, "I feel really privileged to be a Thespian."

1. "Wargrave" (Arnold Rowan), is discovered dead. 2. Lee Mygatt dresses his part at the reunion. 3. All attention is focused on the wall hanging. 4. "Ten Little Indians" cast. 5. # PLAYROOM

"There all the honor lies," from Shakespeare's Hamlet, the motto of the National Thespian Organization. It certainly was true in the case of Lompoc High's Thespian Troupe #779. Staging the successful Ten Little Indians, a mystery thriller, and attending the Theatre Festival at Occidental College kept the club busy.

They also produced another excellent mystery thriller, The Playroom. The action takes place in the Montana. The Montana is one of the oldest, most elegant buildings in all of New York. This grand, old apartment building has many turrets and gables, most of which are now used for storage. One of the attics houses the secret hideout for the Filthy Five. Christopher, played by Lee Mygatt; Judy, played by Rachel Tate; Eric, played by David Mudie; Paulie, played by Karen Hertzler; and Charlot, played by Mike Rivera, together plan and carry out some small time capers. They are, for the most part rich kids, who are looking for a good time.

Judy's father, David, is played by Arnold Rowan. His wife, and Judy's much hated stepmother, is played by Julie Grainger. Little Ellen is played by Maria Escobedo.

The Playroom, under the direction of Mr. Larry Bowen and the hard work of the crew, was a smash.

1. Performers study their script for a future production. 2. Maria Escobedo. 3. The crew working on a setting. 4. Julie Grainger spots an UFO. 5. The Playroom cast during rehearsal. 6. # ENTHUSIASTIC!

Whether it was on the bus going to a game, toilet-papering houses, or at practice when the adviser, Mr. Warren wasn't around, this year's Spiritleaders always seemed to have a good time goofing off.

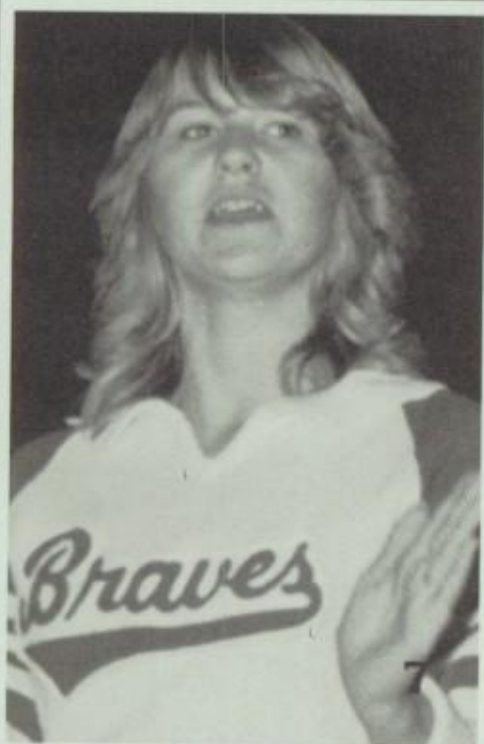

Every girl chosen this year had cheered sometime before in high school. "Being a senior," said Teresa Mangum, "I knew that there were gonna be some bad times, and sometimes you have to force yourself to have a good time, so that's what I did!"

At camp in Santa Barbara, they took candles knowing that the lights were to be out at midnight. But staying up all night wasn't as easy as they thought it would be after a hard day's workout.

For Homecoming, they had a get-together for all the alumni Spiritleaders before the game. They then realized that someday this would be the only time they could cheer. "I've got to make all the times fun while I'm here," said Diana Nelson. And so, obviously, they did!

1. Bev. Heflin cheers for the football team. 2. Tracey Corcoran at the Righetti game. 3. Karla Huebner cheers for the defense. 4. Spiritleaders all the way! 5. A "Brave" chorus line. 6. Friendly rivals. 7. Susan Huseman. 8. Tracey, Carolyn, and Karla goofing around at the waterpolo game. 9. Ceslie Jure in an assembly. 10. Ali Athey yells for victory! 11. Ysabel Aguilar gets ready for a dance routine. 12. Carolyn Imano on power meg.

WORK

"I really didn't think spiritleading would be that hard, but it really turned out to be a lot of work!" stated Gail Ramirez. Although none of this year's spiritleaders were new to cheerleading, most seemed surprised by the amount of work and dedication involved in supporting all of the sports of a very athletic school. At the beginning of the year the varsity squad tried to fully support every sport by attending all home and Cabrillo games, as well as seeing the bus off for all away games. "Everyone got burned out because we were doing so much; people were complaining so we knew we had to do something," explained co-capt. Bev Heflin. After a meeting with their advisor, Mr. Warren, the final verdict was to support only home games. "It worked out a lot better for us and I think the teams were better off because we did a really good job at home games instead of a half-way job at both," stated co-capt. Shelly Ward.

Besides their cheerleading duties the spiritleaders are also songleaders and performed a number of song routines at assemblies and halftimes at basketball games. The work started the previous spring and didn't end until the end of the '82 school year. A class was required for the first semester of the year for P.E. credit.

Jackie Miller expressed her feelings toward spiritleading like this, "Even though it takes an awful lot of time and hard work, spiritleading always seems worth it when the year is over; you forget any problems you had and just remember the good times."

TOGETHER

Together the Frosh-Soph cheerleaders practiced and learned new cheers and together they had fun! Though they cheered separately at their basketball and football games, the girls shared everything else.

It was Mr. Hurlbut's decision to join the two small but spirited groups and the mixture of experience and enthusiasm made it all work out. "The only real differences were our new title and the feeling of respect that we all had for each other. We split up jobs and we used our sixth period class for preparation and practice, so being captain wasn't as big a burden to me this year as it was last year," said Ginger Salazar.

The girls formed a close squad and they spent time together having dinners and becoming better friends in order to make the group more compatible. "We enjoy each other's company," said freshman Stephanie Baisa. And that was the general feeling projected by the Frosh-Soph cheerleaders.

BUSY BODIES

So much to do and so little time. When you're one of the Frosh-Soph cheerleaders, people expect a lot out of you. With only four freshmen and four sophomores on the squad, these girls had their hands full.

Besides full time cheering, the squad raised money at car washes, bake sales and peddling the Braves #1 hands. With the money they earned they bought new uniforms without financial aid — from the A.S.B. or the athletics department.

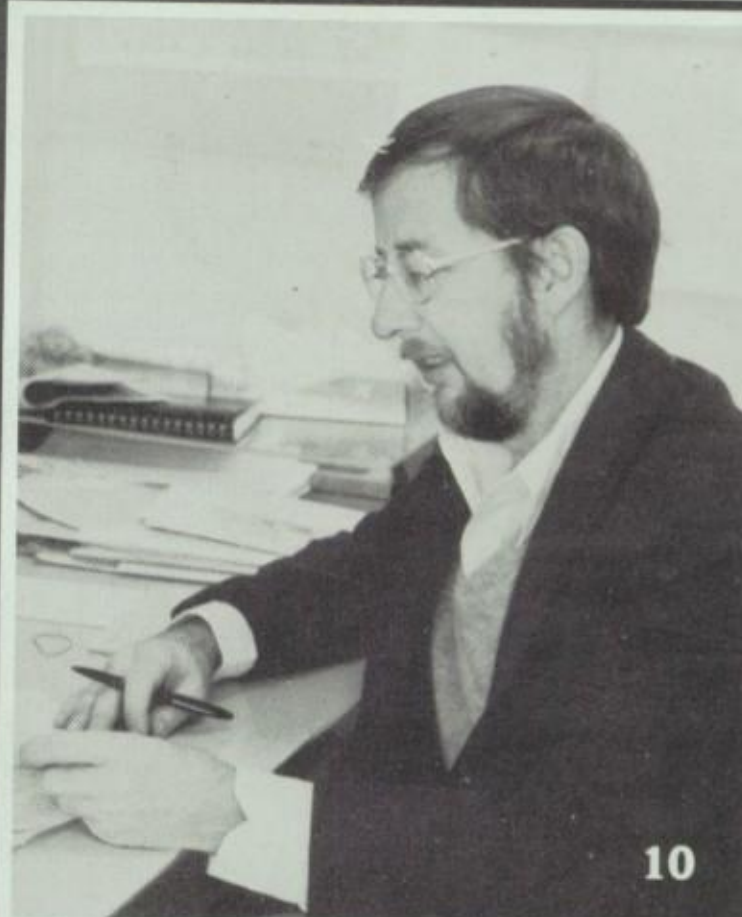

C.S.F. was also hard at work this year. Whether they were diligently studying in order to get high grades and test scores or sponsoring the scholastic decathlon, they too were active and busy.

With the help of their new advisor, Mr. Prucha, C.S.F. honored its freshman and life members at a March recognition night and planned a spring enrichment day.

DEVOTION

"It took a lot of time and preparation, but we all got a reward of some kind."

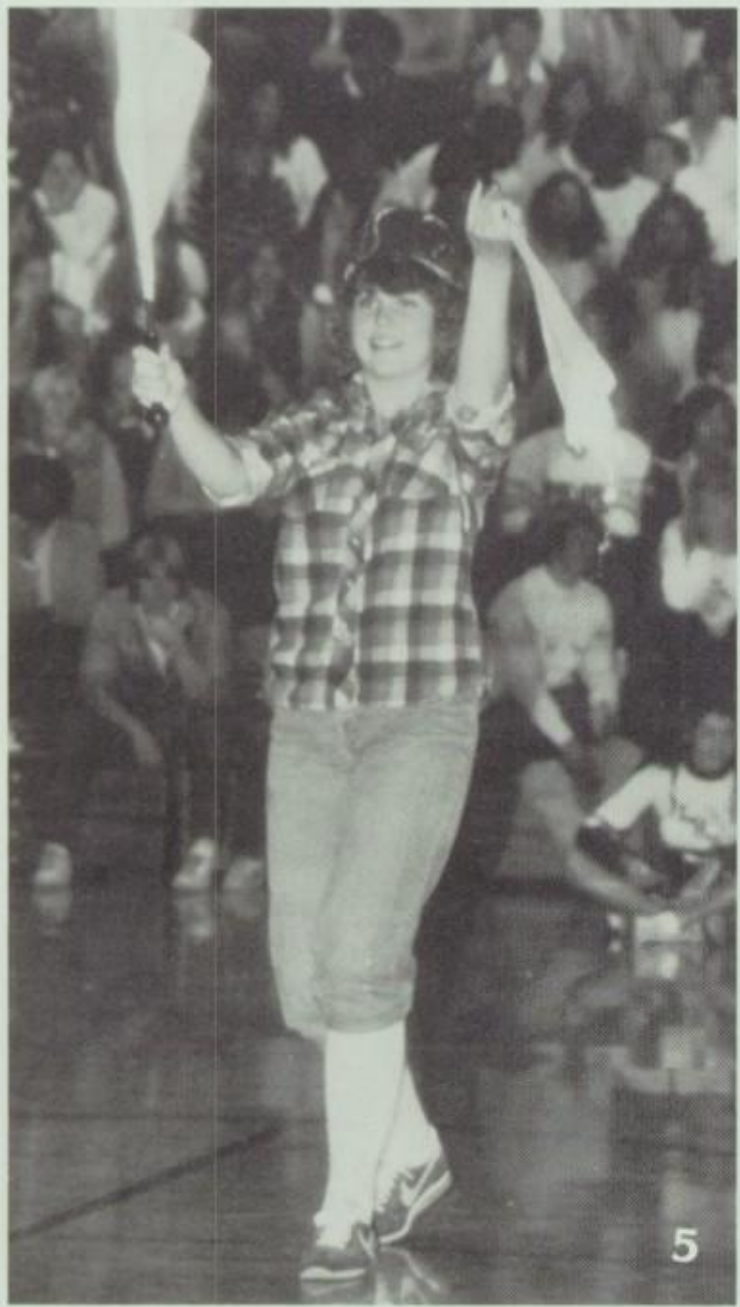

Devotion played a major part in the short flag twirlers season. They worked hard all summer at BBQ's, car washes, and for the first time a booth at the Flower Festival. Anxious to go to camp for a week, the squad spent hours on fundraisers. But, as luck would have it, there was not enough money for nine girls to go to camp so they were unable to attend. This enabled the flag team to purchase new uniforms and a variety of different colored flags. Beside performing at football games, band competitions, and parades, the squad had a Christmas pizza party and McDonald's banquet.

Even though the girls each had a wide spread of ideas and interests, they all worked well together. One twirler stated, "It was a great experience twirling flag and we not only became a good team, we became the best of friends."

ENTHUSED!

Filled with enthusiasm, and spirit, the short flag team twirled their way into the new school year. With a bigger squad than previously, the eight girls had to practice extra hard to perfect their routines, which they performed at football games, assemblies and band competitions. But at the peak of their twirling season, conflict struck. The Short Flags were told that they would not be allowed to perform with the band at anymore football games or band competitions. Disappointed but not willing to give up, they worked hard to show-off at school assemblies. One girl comments, "It was a big letdown caused by a little misunderstanding, but we became a lot closer and were able to work better with each other to perfect our routines."

KNICKERS

Changes steered the Lompoc Mat Mates into a successful season. Led by captain Shelley Ploch the first decision was to change the uniform. The short skirts were put away and replaced by fashionable knickers. Fund raising saw a change too. Instead of the annual raffle, the girls took a big step forward and decided to put on a spaghetti dinner. Each girl was expected to sell tickets and work at the dinner. The results were fabulous. Of course the Mat Mates did their usual duty of keeping score at the wrestling matches. Ten of the fifteen girls were new to scorekeeping, but they proved to be quick learners and soon took on the job with no problems. The officers that led the group were Shelley, captain; Kim Thompson, co-captain; Lisa Gabel, secretary and Miriam Klawiter, treasurer. Shelley summed up the year by her statement, "This year I felt that we all became good friends, not just members of a squad."

HEE HAW

Hee Haw! Donkeys in the gym? That's right. Donkey Basketball was brought to Lompoc High this year by the Letterclub. This was just one of the exciting fund raisers that the letter winners participated in. The Valentines dance was brought back and was well attended by the Braves. During the football season the Letterclubbers worked in the stand, selling hotdogs, popcorn and candy to the starving spectators. Profits were used to put on the spring and fall banquets that honored letter winners of those seasons.

The Lompoc track relays were also sponsored by the club. The league champions were presented plaques purchased by the Letterclub, displaying their achievements.

Officers that kept the group busy this year were Jennifer Lizarraga, president; Lynette Farnum, vice-president Kelli Lisle, secretary; and Jeanie Tolstad, commissioner of activities.

PEOPLE

"Our Interact club is full of wonderful people," remarked Gail Ramirez, president, "and that is what makes the club the best one on campus!" Some of this year's officers are Gail, Lisa Saladino, vice president; Alicia Kaplan, secretary and Carolyn Imano, treasurer. Interact is a club originated to serve the needy. It not only has many projects in the community, but internationally as well. Other officers include Michele Kilmer, committee chairman; Pat Fuller, Sergeant-at-Arms, and directors Lynn Yasaki, Mary Langenfeld and Michelle Jure.

"It is so great to see everybody working with one another in order to help somebody else," remarked

Alicia. When asked how she felt about Interact's services, she replied, "It's so neat to know that the poverty stricken people can finally eat a good meal or wear a shirt instead of a piece of cloth. And it all pays back when they thank us with a smile or a hug."

LOS NINOS

An orphanage called "Los Ninos" in Tijuana, Mexico, that was the big project for this year's Interact club. They raised $1,041.00 on a bake auction for the Rotary club, and planned to stay in the orphanage for a weekend, where they would care for the child as their parents would have. They had a food drive, and also took clothes and toys to the unfortunate children.

Being that the theme for the district was "The Family Strength of America," the club felt "Los Ninos" was a good way to strengthen an important part of the family, the child.

This year's club also made plans to attend their annual Interact District Conference. There they would meet with about 300 students from other schools in the district. They would also enter their project in a competition with the other schools, for project of the year. At the conference, there would also be district elections, guest speakers, dances, and many good times.

"The year was hard work, but with advisor, Mr. Ornelas, and when you all work together, it makes the work fun, and that's what Interact is all about," stated Lisa Saladino vice-president.

ACTIVE

Food, snow, and Mickey Mouse all in one year. Yes, this year's AFS club went on a snow trip to wintry Mt. Able and to Disneyland with the funds they raised from their enchilada dinner. "This year was really exciting and making six hundred dollars on the enchilada dinner was terrific," replied president Lynn O'Henley. "The dinner wouldn't have been a success without careful planning and a lot of support," states v-pres. Laura Saladino and sec./treas. Diane Sawyer.

The club reached its peak this year as seventy students joined. The goal of the club this year was to support the exchange students and to have as much fun as possible!

STUDENTS ABROAD

Lompoc was fortunate to have three foreign exchange students from different parts of the world, Hillevi Christenson from Sweden, Julie Grainger from Australia, and Mari Hatanaka from Japan.

"The school here is different and there isn't a lot of homework," stated Julie Grainger.

Hillevi Christenson said she "was surprised" when she first attended this school because of the size of the school, and because she was able to choose her own classes.

"This school is really enjoyable because I don't have to go to school on Saturday's," stated Mari Hatanaka.

These students really got involved with Student Leadership during their stay. They said it was interesting because they go to learn what was going on in the school.

SPEAKERS

FORENSICS — The Art of Spoken Expression. To the members of the speech team it meant this and a lot more. "The students are very interested, concerned, energetic people," stated Mrs. Jane Motter, coach.

The Forensics club is small in size, but they have many active members, they include Michelle Bittner, Tonya Dakin, Mike Espino, president; Pam Hull, vice-president; Lee Mygatt, Kathy Sell, and Scott Stevens.

The club had two fundraisers this year, Halloween and M&M candy sales. Both went well, and the money raised went towards the cost of the tournaments and State Qualifications. The first tournament for the team was scheduled at Royal High February 2. "There are many young members this year, but the caliber of these students is high and they will do well," remarked Mrs. Motter.

NEWS

Every deadline (and they came around every three or four weeks) was a panic — but not by design. "It seemed that we always had to get everything together at the last minute, and it wasn't our fault," said Editor Shelly Ward. The Smoke Signal Staff spent many of their Tuesday nights down at the school working on paste-ups. Through all their eating and goofing around they worked hard to put out 10 newspapers. They had special issues for Homecoming, Cabrillo, Christmas, April Fools, and Seniors. With paste-ups and selling candy canes the Smoke Signal Staff kept very busy.

We write and we type and take many photographs, We spend days at deadlines, we share many laughs. We put on 2 assemblies complete with slide shows, "Lights! Camera! Action!" shouts advisor Mr. Lowe. This year we were a slightly unorganized staff, Our deadline hours should have been cut in half. You listen and you hear, "I can't do this right!" You soon hear the cry, "I'll be here past midnight!" Our staff has reputation for how much we munch, We grub at deadlines, we go to Tom's for lunch. "I've broken a type-writer, will J.R. be mad?" Give him chocolate chip cookies and he'll be glad.

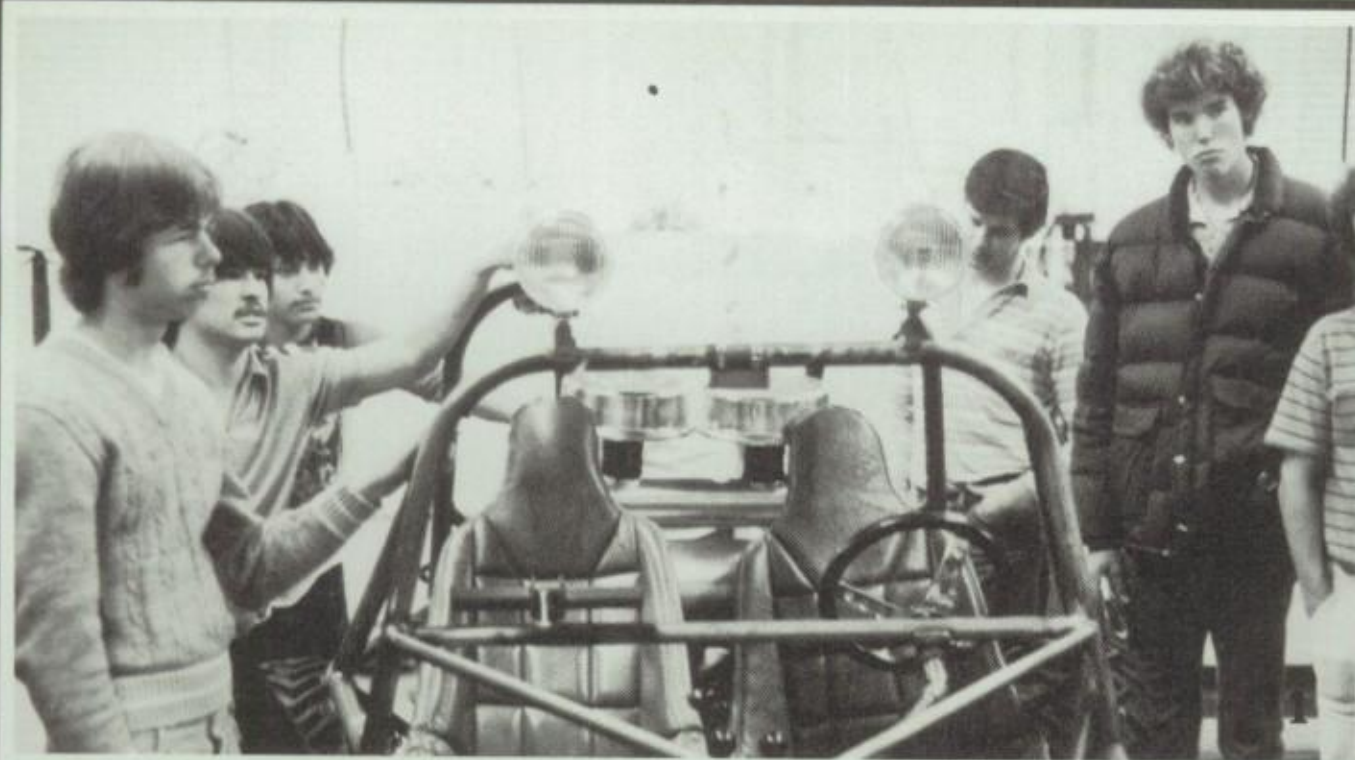

"Where is the white-out? I've made a mistake!" "Turn off the music, I've got a bad headache!" We got it together and the great yearbook is done, We have realized our book is second to none. The staff is proud when the school takes a look, At our color-filled, nationally-ranked yearbook.

THEY'RE OFF!

The engines are roaring! The light turns green, and they're off. Quill and Scroll got a late start, but after it's engine got charged up, they were off and running. Carol Lynch was in the drivers seat and Shawn Donlea, Gail Ramirez, and the rest of the club cruised right with her. To pay for their fuel, the club sold carnations and had a bake sale. There were pit stops along the way, at a banquet and a ski trip. Finally they hit the finish line, Pismo Beach.

What's at Pismo Beach? The Auto club!! The journalists went to see the Auto club try out their very own creation, a dune buggy they constructed during the first half of the year. The heads of the club were Dave Lauderdale, Mike Gibson, and Fred Foster. During their meetings, various speakers came to visit with these talented young lads. All in all, it was a successful and fun year for the guys and their Brave Buggy.

VARIETY

Best known for their Gummy Bears, the German club continued to be active. They began the year by attending a festival in San Jose and enjoying German dancing, music and food. Money was raised for a scholarship allowing a club member to go to Germany and also for others to attend a German summer camp. At the end of the year the group went to Magic Mountain.

"Our only real purpose is to support the soccer team, mainly through fundraisers," explained Keith Imano about the soccer club. They raised over $700 to buy equipment for the team and pay for team breakfasts before Cabrillo and CIF games.

This year a group of Shakespeare enthusiasts organized a new club. Led by Mr. Arnerich, they attended a number of Shakespeare films and a play at UCSB, and an exhibit in L.A.

It was hard to miss the individuality of the people at Lompoc High this year. Everyone seemed to be striving to look and act in totally unique ways. For some, school was a fashion show. Others preferred faded jeans and T-shirts. Punk rockers bopped around campus in bizarre outfits, peeping out at the world through their Devo sunglasses. Cholos looked sharp in their zoot suits and hair nets while hoodlums remained cool smoking in front of the school. Athletes lugged around their duffle bags filled with sweaty garments, showing off to classmates that they were jocks. The Brains gathered in the cafeteria before school to discuss Calculus homework and the latest world dilemmas. Aggies bragged on their heavy pigs. It was true. Lompoc High contained no carbon copies.

scrambled

"When the music stops you grab a chair." For Senior officers the music stopped at the end of first semester and the scramble was on. Jeanie Tolstad, V-P, was replaced by Christa Stano, rep. who was replaced by Miriam Klawiter. Kelli Lisle, sec.; Toni Cazenave, and Jennifer Lizarraga, were replaced by Tim Hogan, Roger Brocksmith, and Robert Wilson.

Main reason for the shuffling was conflicts with the 6th period leadership class. President for the year, Bev Heflin, stated, "We tried to do a lot this year, but this made it hard." Even so, the officers organized Homecoming, the Blood Bank, and Senior Enrichment Day.

As naive Freshmen we entered Lompoc High, Barely enough knowledge to get us by.
We put up with teachers and learned every rule,
Caught on to the fashions and tried to act cool.
Soon we were driving and learning Sex Ed.,
Dreams of the future filled every head.
Getting involved and becoming a part,
Finding good friends and a special sweetheart.
Times to forget, times to remember,
Thank Heavens we're not coming back in September.

stress

This year seniors at Lompoc High were definitely under a lot of stress! You would think being a senior would be kick-back and fun. But, people are only thinking about the fun things, like senior ditch days, and fewer classes. The most important things are the ones that often are not thought of. When you're a senior, your whole future is in your hands! You have to worry about grades, getting enough credits and making sure you have taken your required classes. The most stressful thing of all, is probably the thought of going off to college and leaving friends and family. Sure, being a senior is fun! But it is also a time of stress and changes.

insane

College bound? No . . . Asylum bound? In 1978 we timidly began high school. We were labeled "freshmen" and watched our step. As sophomores we were introduced to drivers and sex education but were still underclassmen! As juniors we were always "one step away." Ah. 1982! After three years of high school we've grown reckless and we are now inferior to no one. We have deranged senses of humor and we conduct ourselves in peculiar ways and dress in bizarre fashions. We show the kids that assemblies are wild, dances are insane and our years of high school have made us crazy!

can't wait

Senioritis can be described as a common disease among most unsuspecting seniors. Cutting class, not doing your homework, or getting bored in class are just some of its symptoms. The only known cure for this illness is called graduation.

"You don't want to do anything," says Randy Kurz, "It's great!"

How long does it last? "I had it when I was a junior," said John Wright, "Or even a freshman."

Senioritis is different for everyone. "It doesn't really make me cut class," said Tammy Goforth, "It just kind of makes me wonder where I'm going in life."

They may not have been "Dancing Through the Snow" and it certainly wasn't "Silent Night," but it was a senior class full of Christmas spirit and cheer. Some were busy passing out candy canes to friends and loved ones, while others were brushing up on their favorite carols. It was easy to find seniors caught up in the rush of holiday activities, collecting cans of food for the needy or practicing for the Christmas program.

"We spent extra time decorating our windows. It was hard work sometimes, but mostly it was fun, and we knew that when we were done and the activities were over we would have two weeks of vacation, relaxation and celebration," said Kelli Lisle.

fads

Fads come and go throughout our high school years, but the most current fads kept the class of 1982 in style.

Video games were the biggest boom to hit Lompoc. Playing them let out daily frustrations and turned everyone on.

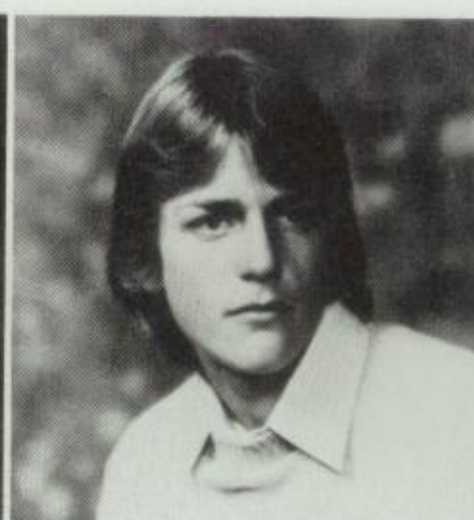

The fashionable fads came in plenty to Lompoc High. The one item that was in every girls' closet was leg warmers. The western look with boots were seen galloping all over campus. To add a little touch to everyday outfits many wore headbands, which became a big fad as the year 1982 slipped by. The guys were extremely cool with the Vaurnet sunglasses that turned every girl's head.

study?

"I only go to class for the environment, not for the knowledge," says Patty Cunningham. The life of a senior is unique and never dull. Whenever the teacher woke you up from your nap, you were always resting your eyes from last night's heavy hours of studying. You never said that you were just plain bored.

The average senior class schedule consisted of two work ed classes, two free periods and, of course, the dreaded required class, American Government. (But thank goodness, for only one semester!) The classroom to a senior was a place to sleep, socialize and space out. But as a matter of fact, some studied also.

Guess what happened to me? Today, in American Government, Stanley asked me out. I mean can you relate or what? So I decided to break up with Alfred because I'd much prefer to go out with a Senior Stud since I won't have to be teased anymore about dating an underclassman. Tomorrow Stan and I are going to sit together in the Yearbook assembly and we're going to get tickets on the same bus for Grad Nite. Well, I've got to jam now because Stan said he'd call me after he's done at baseball practice.

assemblies

Assemblies meant only one thing to some seniors, a free period. Time to get munchies at McDonald's or just kick back in the parking lot. Many seniors preferred the crowded gym atmosphere and found assemblies a good time to let it all out. Quite a few seniors participated in the assemblies such as cheerleaders, flag twirlers, band, or members of athletic teams.

No matter what seniors did during assemblies, everyone accepted them with a very positive attitude.

One senior stated, "I really like assemblies a lot because they seem to bring our class closer together even if it is only for a little while."

weekends

Weekends gave seniors a chance to set their emotions free! Relaxing and enjoying the brief break from their busy schedules, seniors found themselves able to spend time with their close friends and catch up on all the things the week did not give them time to do. While many were cruising down the crowded streets, stopping to add to their figures at McDonald's or Taco Bell, others were dancing to the beat of the latest hits. Weekends meant freedom, as well as a time to forget about all responsibilities. One Senior stated, "Weekends are a reward for making it through five days of school, and I must admit, we all live for weekends."

jobs

One of the biggest concerns of seniors is money. The only way to solve the problem is to get a job. After that, seniors have two choices: one is to work graveyard hours and get paid megabucks and the other is to work during school through work-ed and get paid student wages. Some choice!

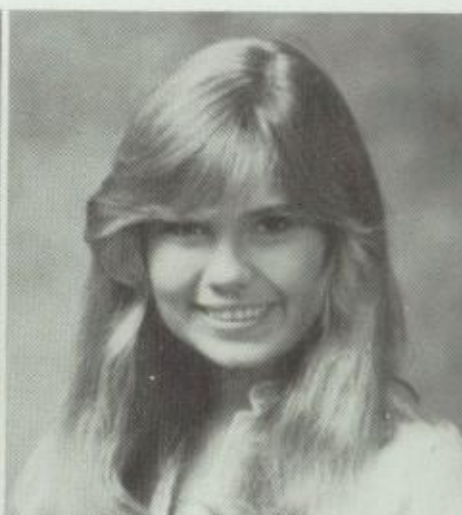

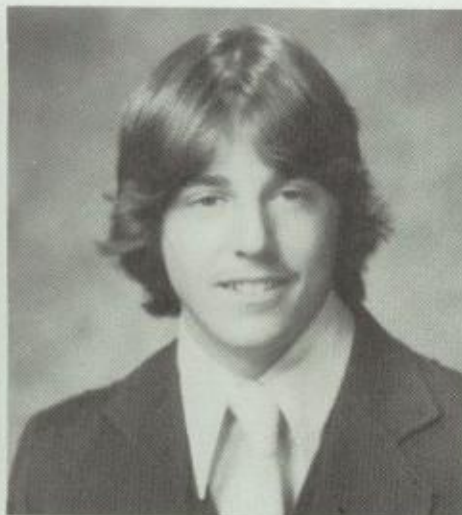

The craving for money starts young. After the first paycheck all you think about is how much you will have made in 3 months, 5 months, 7 months. Almost all of us work for the same reasons, to make money for college, make car payments, to buy gas, records and tapes, spend on that special person, or to have a good time!

jocks

The class of '82, the class that was "MERELY OUTSTANDING." As usual, Lompoc sports have dominated in every event in which they participated. Senior athletes will long be remembered for their outstanding achievements in both league and CIF.

Lompoc teams were distinguished from all other teams with their exceptional play.

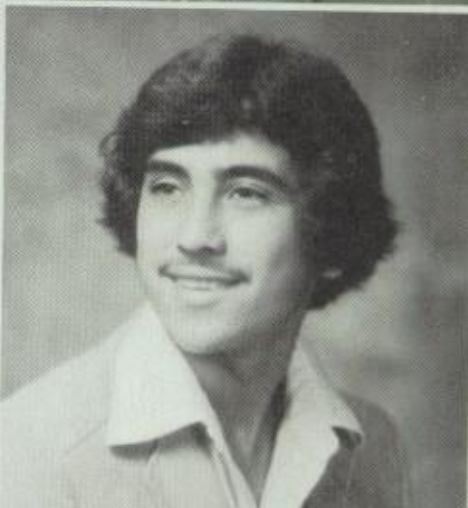

In fall sports alone, there were three players chosen as league most valuable players: Anthony Miranda for football, Jeanie Tolstad for volleyball and Rick Hains for Waterpolo.

buddies

It's been four long years, friend. We've finally struggled through it all. It seems like yesterday we enrolled as freshmen, giggly and confused. We shared the bottom locker; what a mess! When we stepped up and became sophomores, we scheduled all of our classes together. What a mistake!

We used more paper writing notes back and forth to each other, than we used taking notes from the board. And those crazy times on the cruise, they'll be in my memories forever. We're finally out of school now, free and on our own. Even though we'll be at different colleges, I'll think of you often, remembering all the fun times we had back in our high school days.

choices

Shall I take the drape pose or the cap and gown? I like the brown shirt, but maybe the suit will look better, which one should I wear? Are you getting a senior key? Which announcement should I vote for? Do you think I should get a Senior Memories Album? How many thank you notes did you order?

The questions and choices were endless for seniors as they were bombarded by pre-graduation decisions. It began by choosing announcements, then came senior portraits, cap and gown orders followed by announcement orders with their many "extras" from jewelry to stationery. All the confusion made graduation more realistic.

“the end”

Feeling your age comes the last week of school for the seniors, when a person looks back at all the memories of winning big games, outclassing Cabrillo in everything, and hearing Mr. Paisola say for the 4th year in a row, “I’m sure this will be our best year ever!” (and they all were, Big Bob). It’s hard to keep from being teary eyed when there are things you will never do again, like wear a Lompoc Braves uniform, spin your locker combination, spend a lunchtime with your special friends, and sing the alma mater arm in arm. But, watch out! All these activities done for the last time are marking the new, awesome beginnings.

"What am I going to do for the next 30 or 40 years?" It was a question graduating seniors could not help asking.

After throwing their caps into the air and after Disneyland, they had to look at their future. College was the answer for some, it meant an opportunity to fulfill their life's dreams, but for others a job was first on their list. Whatever it was, it meant leaving home after 18 years of security. Graduation was a day of accomplishment and freedom.

Being out on your own brings new responsibilities, such as paying rent, utilities and buying groceries and relying on yourself to make ends meet.

college bound

This was the year of choice for Seniors. Should I go to college? Which college should I go to? What major shall I choose? Some Seniors chose to attend a large University like UC Berkley, UC Davis, or USC. Others chose to stay close to home and attend Allan Hancock Community College either at Santa Maria or at the Lompoc branch.

There were a lot of factors which helped Seniors make these choices. Money was probably one of the biggest. Cal Grants, Scholarships and other programs were available for all Seniors who were eligible and many took advantage of these, receiving from $100 to full tuition for four years. Distance was another factor. Some Seniors wanted to stay close to home and cut costs. Others wanted to get away to new surroundings and start a new way of life.

Before getting to college, Seniors prepared themselves in various ways. Many took classes like Physics, Adv. Alg. and Trig., Adv. Writing, or any of the occupational courses like business, photo, journalism or auto. A few Seniors even took Allan Hancock courses during the school year to begin collecting college credits.

Pacesetters

In any school there are always certain people who, through their personalities, activities, and leadership, shine above the rest. These are the pacesetters! This year twelve active seniors were chosen by their classmates as the people who set the pace throughout their high school careers.

These seniors were Renee Cameron, Jeff Hamstad, Bev Heflin, Tim Hogan, Keith Imano, Kelli Lisle, Jennifer Lizarraga, Paul Nicastro, Janice Patá, Jeanie Tolstad, Shelly Ward and Lynn Yasaki.

1. Seniors vote for pacesetters in their homeroom class. 2. Jennifer Lizarraga works on a layout for the La Purisima. 3. Jeanie Tolstad. 4. Shelly Ward works in American Government. 5. Jeff Hamstad thinks about what he'll do when he gets off work. 6. Escorted by his mother, Jeff Hamstad enters on the field at Homecoming's halftime. 7. Paul Nicastro sings his heart out at an assembly. 8. Tim Hogan, Shelly Ward, Lynn Yasaki, Renee Cameron, Bev Heflin, Keith Imano, and Kelli Lisle pose for an ad!?! 9. Bev Heflin and Kelli Lisle in yearbook class. 10. So that's who papered the school — Renee Cameron! 11. Lynn Yasaki. 12. The 1981 Homecoming Queen, Jeanie Tolstad. 13. Keith Imano. 14. Is that really Tim Hogan? 15. Janice Patá and friend.

renee

How can you improve a never ending smile, a lively attitude topped off by a pretty face? Always warm and cheerful, Pacesetter Renee Cameron impressed everyone she encountered.

Involved in an unending list of activities, Renee participated in AFS, Interact, and Quill and Scroll. She ran on the track team her first two years, and also cross country. Her spirit and enthusiasm gave her the privilege to be a Spiritleader her junior year, while also actively involved as a Mat Mate. Brave of the Month, English Achievement Award, Girls' State Alternate, National Merit Commendation, and CFS life membership are just a few of the awards Renee received. But the highlight of her high school years was being named editor of the 1982 La Purisima yearbook staff.

jeff

Jeff Hamstad's good looks and pleasant personality made him an outstanding senior at Lompoc High School. You could always count on Jeff for a smile and a kind word. He was one of the most quiet Pacesetters and also one of the most inspiring.

Dedicated in all that he did, Jeff's extra activities kept him busy. Starting on the varsity basketball team his junior and senior year, he was chosen as Captain because of his leadership qualities. He also lettered both years and took part as treasurer of the Letterclub. His athletic abilities enabled him to participate on both JV football and baseball. In his spare time he incorporated his mind for athletics in his job at the racquetball court. Popularity gave Jeff the privilege of being on the Homecoming Court.

bev

Covering the entire spectrum of school life, Bev Heflin added her expertise to every activity she was involved in. She was respected by many because of her patience and willingness to get involved. Her pretty face and sweet smile said a lot, but her personality said it all.

Although constantly active since she was a freshman, Bev could always spare a moment for a friend. Cheerleading four years in a row didn't tire her, she was voted by her class as v-pres her junior year, pres. her senior year, and to the Homecoming Court. Her energy spread as she still found time to participate in choir, letterclub, and La Purisima. You think that this would have been enough, but Bev rounded out her activities by receiving a letter in swimming all four years. Bev Heflin is a true definition of a Pacesetter.

tim

He conquered the impossible. Tim Hogan turned all the hours of work into fun. Whenever there was something that no one else wanted to do, Tim was always willing to do it. No matter how time consuming the task, Tim worked cheerfully and diligently.

Tim particularly shone in the area of performing arts. He was in Thespians all four years and was president his last two, playing an integral part of eight theater productions. Because Tim was such a hard worker, he was named Smoke Signal Broadcast Editor. Being co-commissioner of activities, publicity, and class secretary made him a well known member of student council.

Tim has given a lot to the school and his classmates. Although others' appreciation couldn't always be seen, it was summed up when the senior class voted him Pacesetter.

keith

Keith Imano's warm personality and smile brightened the days of all who knew him.

His talents as goalie shone. He was a three time varsity letter winner, and was elected captain of the team in his senior year.

He was in Soccer club all four years and was president as a senior.

He played in a variety of sports, such as football in his freshman year, and golf his sophomore through senior years. As a sophomore he was chosen Most Valuable Player.

Keith takes pleasure in a diversity of other sports such as bowling, tennis, and ping pong. Many times you find him near video games, spending quarter after quarter, concentrating on "Defender."

Dances always seemed to attract Keith, whether it was New Wave, Hawaiian, or Rock-and-Roll, he was always there dancing.

jennifer

There are certain people that you know will be a pacesetter, even from freshman year. Jennifer Lizarraga is one of those very special people.

As a freshman and sophomore, she lettered on the Varsity Gymnastics team, and as a junior and senior, she was a starter on the Varsity Volleyball team, where she lettered again. She was in Letterclub all four years, and her senior year she was president of the club.

Jennifer is a person people look up to. She was in CSF and on the Principal's List her sophomore through senior years, and won an English Achievement Award.

Her creativity got her on La Purisima her junior and senior years; she also was Comm. of Activities and class rep.

Because of her sweet personality, Jennifer was chosen for Homecoming Court.

kelli

The more you're around her, the more you like her, Kelli Lisle.

Kelli's middle name is secretary, being that she is a secretary at work, secretary of her class for three years, and secretary for Letterclub her junior and senior years. Kelli got into Letterclub by earning a varsity letter in gymnastics her freshman and sophomore years.

She's also had the grades to be on Principal's list and in CSF for 3 years.

La Purisima and Quill and Scroll have been a part of her daily routine for her last two high school years, as she has been ad manager for the yearbook.

Due to her smile and warm, lively personality, Kelli was named to the 1981 Homecoming Court. For all these reasons Kelli was elected as Pacesetter by her peers.

janice

Who could be more of a pacesetter than the Valedictorian? Janice Pata has led her class in a quiet way, all four years.

She's been in CSF four years, and is a life member. With the 4.0 GPA she earned in school, she was on the Principal's List all four years.

Janice started when she was a freshman by winning the English Achievement Award, and she soon earned the grades to become a Junior Escort. As a senior she was a National Merit Commended Student.

Janice is a true leader, who is very much respected by her peers for her academic capabilities. She has won various awards in photo competitions, and seems to love the art.

Janice enjoys living on her farm, and has a 4-H entry in the county fair each year.

paul

You can find this pacesetter in one of two places. He could be out on the football field, but most likely you will find him in Music 2, singing!

Paul has been involved in choir starting from his freshman year. Since he was such an outstanding vocalist he was chosen for Madrigals his sophomore year and has been exercising his vocal chords ever since.

Paul's talents include more. His strong athletic ability earned him a varsity football letter when he was a junior and his skill got him chosen to 2nd Team All League in his senior year. Paul also contributed to relay teams in track his junior year when he lettered.

Paul showed his leadership in Madrigals by being vice-president of the choir.

Paul is the pacesetter who speaks softly but carries a big lists of talents.

shelly

Being spirited and funloving made Pacesetter Shelly Ward stand above the crowd.

Shelly showed the class of 1982 her enthusiasm by being a cheerleader all four years, and captain of the Spiritleaders her senior year.

Shelly didn't just cheer for sports she played them. She played softball all four years lettering varsity her junior and senior years. Shelly was sophomore class president and ASB Treasurer her senior year.

Being extremely active in a variety of school activities, Shelly was on the Smoke Signal staff and editor her last year, AFS, Letter Club and Quill and Scroll. Shelly's enthusiastic and motivating personality made her a leader among her class.

jeanie

Jeanie's bright smile and friendly personality are two reasons she was chosen as pacesetter as well as Homecoming Queen.

Jeanie is a very versatile person and an all-around athlete. She has played volleyball, basketball, and softball all four years. She was so awesome that she was chosen as All League MVP for basketball and volleyball and was captain of softball her junior year.

Jeanie was kept busy in Student Leadership also. She was class representative her first three years and vice-president her senior year.

She received an English Achievement Award her freshman year and was chosen Brave of the Year when she was a junior.

If you know Jeanie, then you know she is a true pacesetter.

lynn

Lynn Yasaki was the type of person who got involved in every aspect of school.

Lynn's intelligence kept her on the Principals Lists. She received an English Achievement Award and was an Elk's Student of the month.

Although busy keeping up her grades, she was able to be active in many clubs. She was a Life Member of CSF, director of Interact, Concert Choir President, and members of AFS, La Purisima, and Quill and Scroll.

Her extra energy earned her a doubles position on the Varsity Tennis Team.

Lynn became involved in student council her junior and senior year being junior class rep. and ASB Vice-President.

Don't let her size fool you. In Lynn's case, good things come in small packages.

Leadership was the key to a successful year for the junior class. With goals set high, the class officers set out to prove their experience and dedication as student council members. The juniors were led by president Mary Langenfeld and vice-president Sue Heath, secretary-treasurer Diane Sawyer, class representatives Pat Fuller, Sheri Gordon and Rick Osborn. "We worked hard during the summer and throughout the year by constantly sponsoring money raising events and trying to raise class unity," stated Mary. "It seemed as though the entire year was devoted to preparing for this year's outstanding junior-senior prom."

After finally making it to the prestigious rank of upperclassman, this year's juniors showed their growing interest in sports.

In many sports being a junior finally meant a longed for seat on the varsity team.

The champion girls tennis team was dominated by juniors this year, as well as the wrestling team and even the varsity football team boasted more "lower-upper" classmen.

weekends

Weekends were made for Juniors! However the saying goes, weekends were always lived up by the class of 1983. The two day holiday was looked upon with much anticipation and when Sunday night rolled along, always too soon, the weekend was remembered with a fulfilled grin. They consisted of a trip through the MacDonald's parking lot, a bit of rest and relaxation, a late night movie at the Valley Drive-In, and, of course, three hours worth of Chemistry homework. Obviously, a whole lot of fun, and very little boredom. After all, isn't that what weekends are all about?

Above: A trip to the beach is always one of Ray Navarro's weekend plans. Below: Erin Coughlin, Karen Jurosky and Rhonda Fallon decide on one more cruise.

friends

Friendship is you and me sharing, hoping, laughing and reaching goals that were never close enough to reach. Most people agree that friendship is not an overnight thing, but is built upon many layers of kindness. A friend is someone who will accept you just the way you are. Juniors will often reminisce about the past year, and laugh, cry and shed tears in memory of the friendships made, but no matter what kind of friendship you have, everyone agreed that everyone needs a friend, and friends are one of the most remarkable things about Lompoc Senior High School.

leaders

Helping to make a better school year, sophomore officers participate in many ways. Whether they were learning leadership skills at conferences or going on trips for school exchange days, each one experienced many things.

The officers included Virginia Salazar, president; Trudy Turner, vice-president; Renee Wright, secretary/treasurer; Ray Cruz, Mark Dansby and Stafani Donlea, representatives. Sophomores were also involved in sponsoring the traditional senior tea. "It's been a really great year and we feel that we have accomplished a lot," said Virginia.

it's great!

Winning for the fun of it! The athletic sophomores this year had what it took to be great; an attitude that says, "Hey, this is great and I like what I'm doing." There is something special about an athlete in his season, whether J.V. or Varsity. All are striving, reaching, and pushing for improvement. Hard work paid off in the success of our cross country, football, softball, and many other teams that had contributions from the class of '84. Among many sophomore standouts were Sally Rich, Grant Valenzona, Mike O'Connor, Veda Palm, Sheri Lamberton, and Bryan Schalesky.

Sophomore requirements. The term made some students cringe at the thought. Having to cut open their very first frog and going through the embarrassment of the first day in Sex Ed.! But most sophomores rejoiced in the fact that requirements meant that soon they would have their driver's license. This small piece of paper seemed to make all their efforts worthwhile.

active

No longer the guinea pigs of the school, sophomores became aware that their status was growing. Lunchtime gave them a chance to show their spirit by participating in class competitions and attending different club meetings. Some tenth graders experienced the thrill of getting a Drivers License, which gave them a chance to get off campus at lunch. Others were content to stay on campus with their sweeties.

rookies

In their first year of high school sports the freshman athletes found out what competition was all about. While competing in many sports, they soon discovered that glory was not easily obtained. Long, tough workouts, mental anguish and rigid discipline involved in preparing for competition taught these rookies the success recipe of the Lompoc athletic program.

excitement!

In high school you just don't learn to read and write, you learn to grow up. It's hard enough to go to school where everyone is older but it's even harder when they think that being older means being better. So every Freshman goes through a period of adjusting to the campus, freedom, and to the upperclassmen. Decisions are suddenly important. There are the easy decisions of whether or not to stay on campus for lunch, and then there are the decisions that affect your future like whether to take basket weaving or chemistry. Being a Freshman isn't easy; it's just fun.

spirited

This year Freshmen showed off their spirit by participating in many class activities. The era of the shy, scared freshman has been shattered by the new breed of energetic and far from shy freshmen. This year they showed that they wouldn't put up with the regular ridicule and jokes of being a freshman; instead they ignored it and went on to show how good a sport they were. Since the freshmen had such a good year, next year seems to be even more promising!

thinkers

Freshman year . . . a time of transition, a time to get situated, and a time to realize that there are a lot of school years ahead. All of this was reflected in the faces of freshman students as they sat through their classes soaking up information and knowledge. Many freshmen suddenly found themselves bogged down with daily homework — definite change from junior high. A typical freshman schedule consisted of math, com. lab, world geography or world history, P.E., an elective and perhaps a foreign language. But even with a tougher schedule and a bigger homework load, the freshman class, as always, managed to survive.

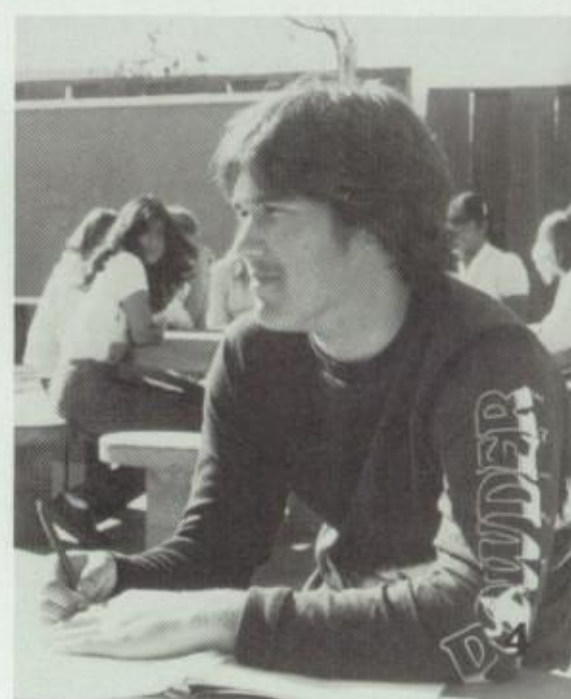

1. Theresa Holmdahl paints signs for ASB class. 2. Michelle McGuire. 3. Angela Wade. 4. Tom McLain. 5. Stephanie Baisa.

INTERACTION

1. Jerry White catches up on his reading. 2. Karen Avila fights for an "A" in the required writing through Literature. 3. Mrs. Leck explains to Pat Tinsdale how to write a good essay. 4. Do you always write your journals for the week on Friday at lunch time, Joel McComb? 5. Leave me alone, I am trying to read. 6. Babe Ruth — he is my favorite baseball player! explains David Caddell. 7. Leonardo Da Vince, "My hero!" 8. Steve Anderson, "Why are you sitting so close to Mark Mesikep?" 9. Crystal Tuers. 10. Pat Marsh studies his lines.

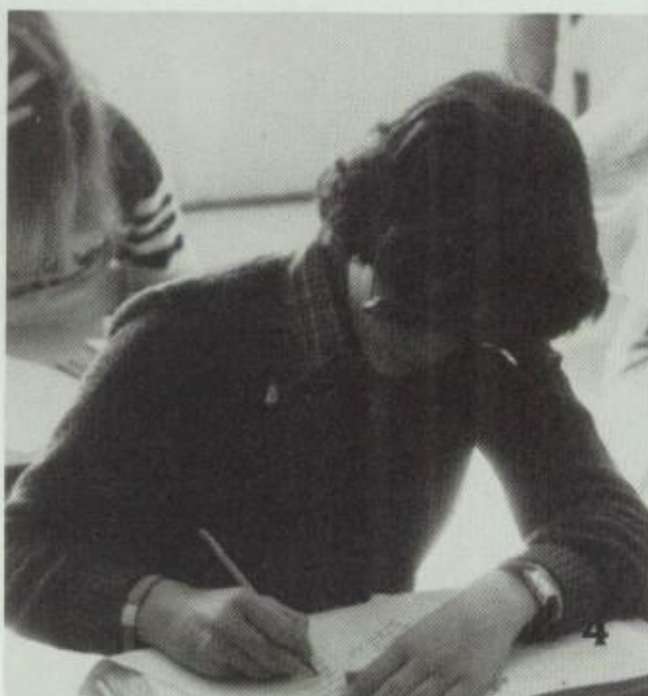

Communication . . . an emotional as well as physical interaction between students. Whether they were talking to friends at lunch time or giving a speech in front of the student body, people were constantly communicating.

The teaching of communication skills began during the freshman year with Comm Lab which consists of reading, speech, grammar, and composition. Moving into the second year, sophomores were required to take writing through literature, which exposes students to the world of literature. Finishing with all the required English, finally, there is a chance to choose between college prep, world literature, American literature, Novel, Future Think, Advanced Writing, Creative Writing, and Minority Literature.

FIGURES/FACTS

1. Mr. Tolstad has a good time grading student's homework assignments. 2. Peter Beck is hard at work. 3. Stacey Myers takes a break from Biology. 4. Nancy Joly doing her best in Algebra II. 5. Forrest Libby experimenting in P.S. II. 6. "And what can I do for you," thinks Mr. Hope. 7. Lila Wong concentrates on her Math homework. 8. Michele Kilmer getting "Chemical" in chemistry. 9. Mrs. Shields helps out John Faubus. 10. Kristie Gerard, Jeff Hester, and Doug Steiger are absorbed in Biology. 11. Shawn Donlea dreams about becoming a famous scientist.

Science is confusing!! In Biology, moles are animals, but in Chemistry a mole =  $6.0 \times 10^{23}$ . What are they trying to do to us?

There was a wide range of classes offered this year from P.S. II to Aeronautics.

Many Sophomores were found in Biology dissecting frogs and learning about their chromosomes, while Freshmen, Juniors, and Seniors were discovering theories and Aviation Technology.

Some people found science fascinating as much as others found it dull and uninteresting. The same applied for Math classes.

These classes included Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Calculus, and new courses on Computers and Word Processing.

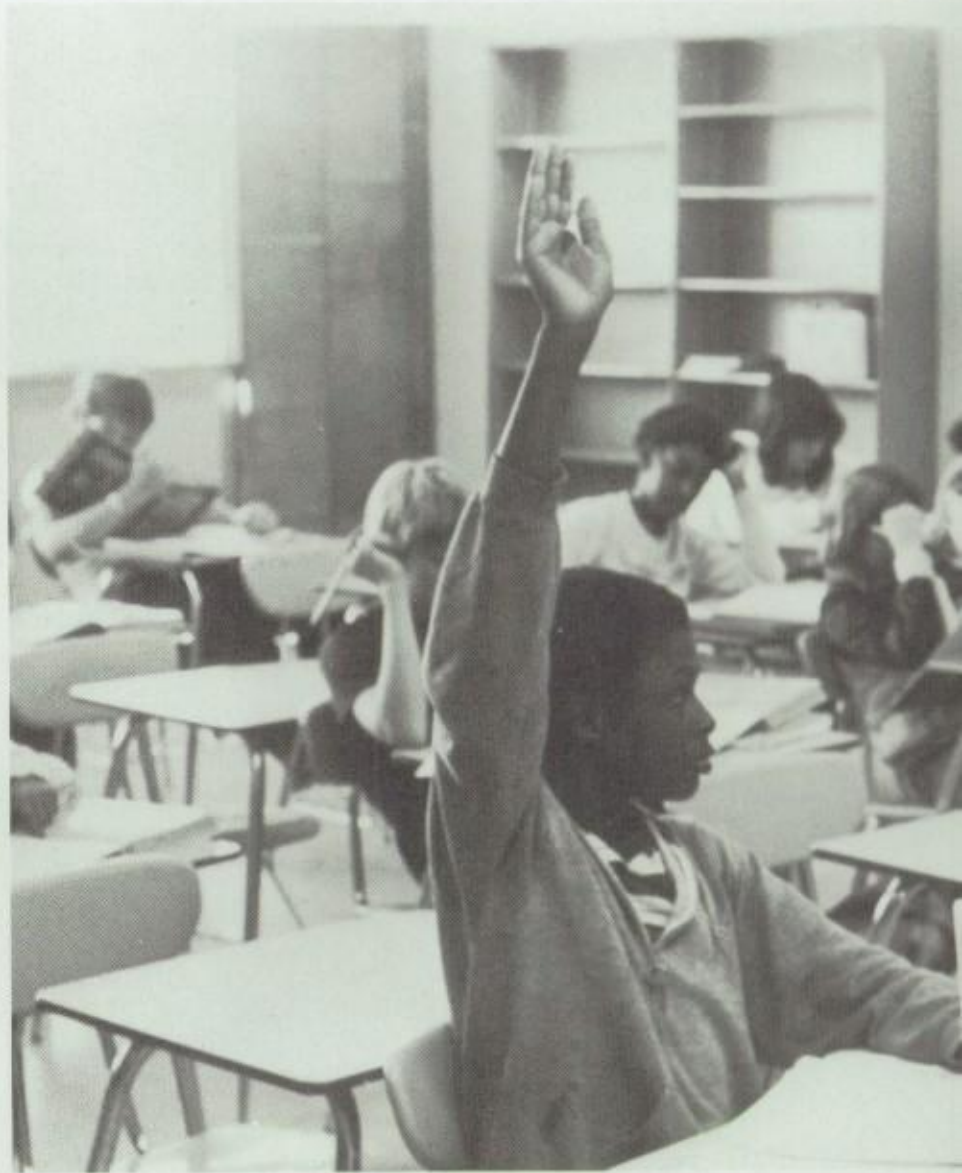

Students were seen staring bewilderedly at blackboards filled with Algebraic equations. Other students were dumbfounded by the complex computers, but later, absorbed information with ease.

Whatever your interests were, Math and Science courses proved both beneficial and practical.

WE THE PEOPLE

1. Rebecca Arreola. 2. I know! I know! . . . 3. Isn't this fun? 4. Shannon Goss busily working. 5. Kelly Beecham. 6. Cederick Soso enjoys history. 7. Mary Brandon concentrates hard.

We the people in order to form a more perfect school and keep everything cool, we must strive for a better education and promote happiness to insure the blessing of an open campus for ourselves. To ordain and establish this constitution at Lompoc High School, we must arrive to class on time and take all the required classes throughout our high school years.

Social study classes were a big part of each of our lives. They prepared all of us for life in the real world. Psychology helped us to understand why people do the weird things they do. Economics taught us how to make millions out of cents. American Government gave seniors a chance to understand politics and the way our government is run. Family Living helped us . . . well you know! And last but not least Drivers Education the high school dream; to get behind the wheel.

SKILLFUL

1. Scott Klein tells Brad Torrens to get this thing put back together. 2. Don't you like having your picture taken David Espino. 3. Julie Ward gets her measurements. 4. Jeff Hahn learns the art of Floriculture. 5. Todd Wilson shows Sean Fallon his masterpiece. 6. Mike Guevara. 7. Steve Ryan

The time is drawing near when each of us has to step out into the world and discover the profession which we decide to devote our lives to. To help make such decisions, we have many useful Arts classes here at Lompoc High which prepare students for the future. From Automotive to Home Economics careers, it's all here.

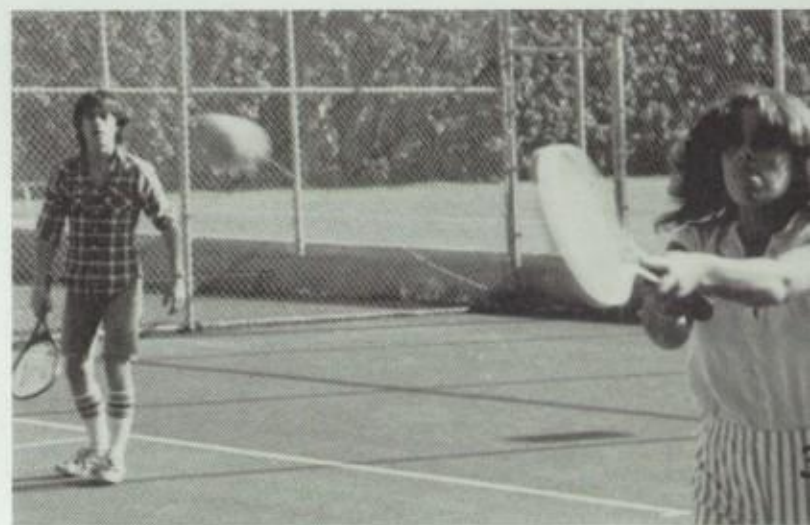

If you have the talent of working with your hands, you found such classes important to you.

Up-to-date courses have been added, including Computer Science, Aeronautics, and Engineering, which help prepare Lompoc students for the demanding world of technology.

FREEDOM

1. Wendy Minyard makes a latchhook rug. 2. A one and a two and a three, says Karen Pradzinski. 3. 40-love. 4. Aaron Friar. 5. Come on Mr. Bickmore, you can catch up. 6. A scene from "The Ten Little Indians." 7. It's a quarterback sneak. 8. Do-Re-Mi-Fa-So-La-Ti-Do. 9. Shaun Halloway. 10. Richard Garcia goes up for two points.

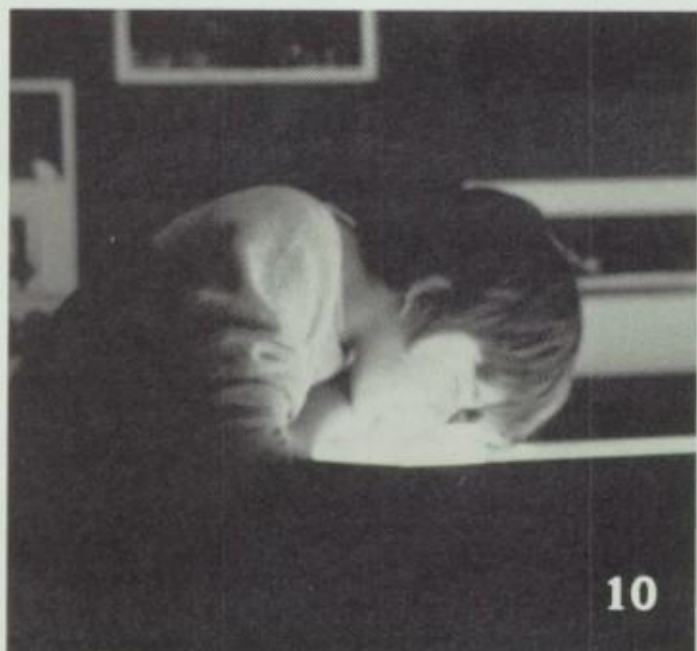

In both fine arts and Physical Education classes, Braves found freedom from the hard books of science and math and were given the chance to be creative and to do what they wanted.

Whether it was sewing, taking pictures, singing or acting, Braves put their creative minds to work to produce some of the best work ever seen at Lompoc High school. And in PE Braves had the freedom to choose from a variety of sport activities including flag football, badminton, soccer and weightlifting.

Many Braves found these courses easy while others found them to be more of a challenge. But in most cases, Braves came out ahead creatively and physically as well as intellectually.

== SPECIALIZING ==

1. Studying for a very hard test! 2. Jim Gavette tries to figure out his math. 3. Joelle Schuchard trying to concentrate. 4. Why do you want my picture? 5. Lydia Gonzales daydreams. 6. I hope the teacher doesn't see me using my calculator! 7. I can't wait to finish so I can go to the beach. 8. I hope my calculator batteries last the whole test! 9. I'd rather write a note to my friend than finish this homework. 10. One of the special students studies hard.

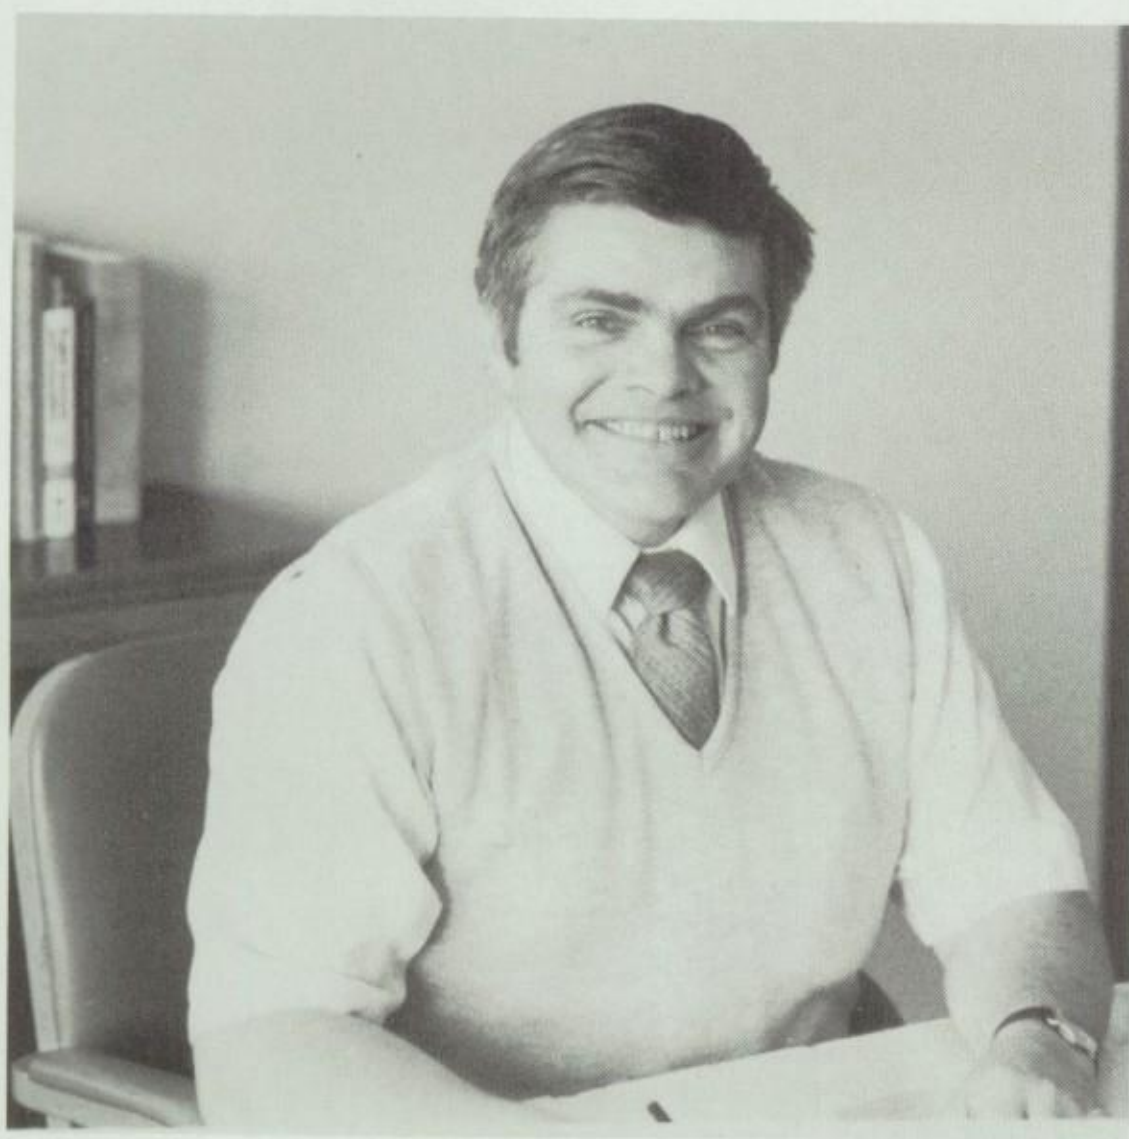

Thanks to special programs, many students that normally would lag behind in a class because of learning difficulties now can have special attention and help. These classes are designed also for the special teaching of physically handicapped students. These classes are smaller than regular classes so that the teacher can have more time to help students individually. Because of special programs like these classes, students that are enrolled in them have a greater chance to get the education they need and would not be able to receive in a regular class. As one of the students that is in one of these classes stated, "I'm really happy that I can be in a class where I can understand what I'm doing and be able to do my work at my own pace."

MR. ROBERT PAISOLA, Principal

MR. ROBERT MOTT, Vice-Principal

Can you imagine being in charge of 1500 students for seven hours every day? Our administrators don't have to imagine it because at 8:10 am, it becomes reality. From organizing assemblies to suspending corrupt students, our administrators are faced with decisions that affect our lives.

Mr. Robert Paisola, our principal, was in charge of most of the major decisions. He worked hard to keep Lompoc High alive and rolling. A cheer, a laugh, a smile let us know how much he cared day by day.

Vice-principal Mr. Robert Mott assisted in making this year one of the best. With a never ending smile on his face, Mr. Mott lent his talents for the benefit of everyone in the school.

They affect

Mr. Dave Herber and Mr. Charles Hurlbut were given the dirty job of discipline. Besides that, Mr. Hurlbut was in charge of student council and for the first time ever he taught a class in leadership sixth period. Mr. Herber was in charge of many class activities. They incorporated their ideas and created one of the best years Lompoc High has ever had.

1. Mr. Paisola speaks out at an assembly. 2. We definitely have the most spirited principal. 3. Mr. Hurlbut eats french bread.

“I love teaching. I can’t think of anything else I would rather be doing,” commented Mr. Arnerich who teaches English. “But my family is the most important thing in my life.” Mr. Arnerich runs a very busy schedule. Right after school, he takes off on a 4 mile jog and then spends about 3 hours with his two year old daughter Colleen. Working towards a doctorate in English at U.C.S.B., Mr. Arnerich spends endless hours doing homework for his classes as well as correcting school work. He graduated from St. Mary’s Catholic College and has been teaching for 12 years. One of his goals is to eventually teach every English class that is offered here. “A teacher never knows how far his influence will spread.”

"My dad had his own repair shop so I just grew up with mechanics," stated Mr. Gettings when asked why he decided to teach Auto shop. Mr. Gettings attended UCLA, LA State, and Northern Arizona University. In his spare time he clowns around with the Shriners and camps with his wife and six year old girl.

Mr. Jaenicke attended Eastern Illinois University and University of Colorado, where he majored in automotive but was steered into metals. Most of Mr. Jaenickes' time is used by coaching Water Polo and swimming, which he has been coaching for 15 years. He also takes time out to hunt, fish, and be with his four children.

Cow girls and ski bums, Lompoc is full of unique teachers!

Mr. Norm Okun loves to ski, both snow and water. He and his wife take many invigorating trips to the Sequoias. Why is such a talented skier teaching? Mr. Okun says, "Teaching is fantastic. We have such a high caliber of student bodies. It is so exciting to work with winners!" When not earning his paycheck or running down the slopes, he and his wife take trips around the world.

"I enjoy spending time with my husband," replied Mrs. Jane Motter. On weekends and in her spare time, the quiet and mild-mannered Forensics sponsor suddenly turns into a motorcycle and horseback rider when with her husband, Jerry.

After

1. Another trip is planned for Mr. Norman Okun and his wife, Marie. 2. Mr. Okun believes that the slopes are where everything is at. 3. Mrs. Jane Motter and her horse "Dubs" decide on another quick canter.

Lending their talents and expertise, Mike Warren, Jerry Thompson, and James Warrick all helped contribute to our outstanding athletic program.

As our new Athletic Director and the head football coach, Mr. Warren had a very hectic fall schedule. But Warren stated, "Being Athletic Director is challenging and fun."

Coach "T" kept busy as Wrestling head coach, and assistant football coach. Thompson stated, "It's very rewarding to see a young person develop his technique and become a polished athlete."

Former Brave Cross Country star Mr. Warrick has returned to his Alma Mater to coach track, where as a student he was part of the 1971 and 1972 CIF championship teams.

Counselors, how can they help? One way is by giving information. Many times, just knowing more facts about the problem can help you to decide what to do about it, like the time you needed to find a library book and ask for some information on how to find it, or going to the career center to learn more about a certain college you are thinking about attending.

Another way counseling can help is having someone assist you in sorting out your options. Imagine that all the classes you wanted were full by the time you got to Brave Trek, what do you do? Go to your counselor. What else?

"Counseling is only a way of getting one into the position of making their own decisions," said counselor Gary Prucha.

How do you sum up a year like 1982? How do you tell about the people who were a part of it at Lompoc High? After a lot of thought and observation, it was a unanimous decision to choose "EVERYONE SHINES!" as our theme. Different people did different things and gave a little bit of themselves to complete this year. We all made 1982 SHINE!

But it wasn't just the students who made this year special. We owe a heart-felt thank you to our faculty, for allowing us extra-time during class to work on the yearbook. We especially want to thank Mr. Robert Paisola, principal, and Mr. Dan Johnson, photographer.

With their help and with the support of you, the Braves, we were able to capture in this book the shining faces of 1982.
